Conversation Class.

El programa de Conversation Class de Ceibal en Inglés tiene dos objetivos fundamentales: el desarrollo de habilidades de oralidad y el mejoramiento de habilidades de interculturalidad. Para cumplir con estos objetivos, los estudiantes y sus docentes reciben un profesor remoto a través de un equipo de videoconferencia una vez por semana.

Todos los grupos de Educación Media están invitados a participar, previa inscripción.

Let's meet your friends in this book!!!

Hello everyone! I'm Lua. I like doing physical exercise to lead a healthy lifestyle. I practice on my own because there are no gyms over here as I live in a rural area. I have achieved many of my goals like stop gaining weight. I live with my dad; he's the best dad ever! My mom lives in the States. I miss her a lot but she texts me or videocalls me every day.

Hi. I'm Nico! I live in a crowded city with my families. Yeap! My families! I usually spend some days with my mom, my aunt, and my grandpas. The rest of the week I stay at my dad's house with him, his significant other and my grandma. I like living in both houses because all of them help me with my work from school.

Hi. I'm Emma. I like playing and listening to all kind of music. I can play the ukulele and the bass. I'm also studying singing lessons. My dream is to have a rock band. Hope I can do it as it sounds rather difficult in a small town. I live with my grandparents and I love them. They support me and sometimes they even sing with me!

PUZZLE

- Lua is reading a magazine containing recipes. There is a word puzzle she can't solve. Help her solve it. All the 10 words refer to food.

The ten words are...

e.g. pineapple

My favorite of these foods is the pineapple. The white pineapple is very sweet and juicy. I buy it in cities on the border with Brazil. It is a Brazilian pineapple. Which of these foods is your favorite? Use what I say to write.

My favorite food...

SUPERMARKET

Hello guys, how are you? I just arrived from the local supermarket. Here is the basket with the fruit I bought. These fruits are my favorite. See the basket and the shopping list. Let's see how much you know, did I bring everything I needed?

As you could see, there are two apples, there is a bunch of bananas and there is an orange.

But there were things that I didn't bring from the local supermarket. Do you see the empty basket? Draw them there. Here is the list: 2 mangoes, a pineapple, 3 peaches and 2 pears.

This is the dialogue I had with my grandma

Did you find everything on the list?

Sorry grandma, my battery died and couldn't remember.

Bummer! Too much chatting and whatsapping, and very little work. Let's see the basket. Is there a pineapple?

No, there isn't any...but there is an orange.

OK. Are there two mangoes?

No, there aren't but there is a bunch of bananas.

OK. Are there any apples?

Yes, there are. And that is all. I should go back to the local supermarket and buy the things missing.

OK. Just go and come back immediately. You girl!

✿ Roleplay it with a partner and tell me how you felt.

How much do you remember about the characters of the book?

- * They are the three friends that are helping you with your English course. They have different eating habits. Listen and match each dietary habit with the corresponding character.

For example, Nico is an omnivore. He eats anything.

- * Vegetarians: eat fruit and vegetables, but can also eat dairy, eggs or honey.
 - * Vegans: eat fruit and vegetables, but not dairy, eggs or honey.
 - * Omnivores: eat everything.
- * Each of them describes what's in each of their refrigerators. Read their descriptions and guess which of these refrigerators may correspond to each of the characters.

There is a bottle of water.
There are three bananas.
There is a carton of milk.
There are five oranges.
There is a piece of cheese

There are two bottles of soda. There is a bag of sugar.
There is cabbage.
There are two watermelons.
There is a carrot.

There is a bottle of juice.
There are two slices of ham.
There is an apple.
There is a chicken leg.
There are four bags of flour.

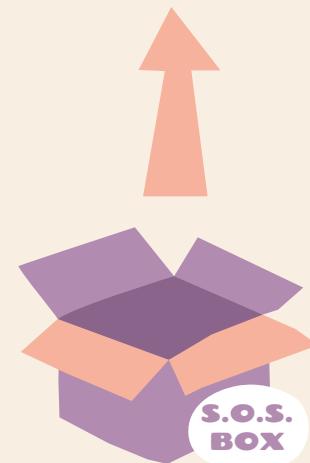

FRIDGE

- What about your fridge? Create your own fridge and invent what's in there. Take some notes to describe the fridge to any of the three characters.

There is a...
There is an...
There are...
There are some...
There aren't any...

Find a classmate to talk with.

Ask him/her what character he/she described the refrigerator to.

Exchange drawings with that partner and describe the content of his/her fridge.

Use the S.O.S. box to help you.

Share with the rest of the class when the teacher asks you to do that.

Lua and Nico are playing a game called: What's in the box? They guess what is inside the box. Look at what they say.

It is rounded. It is as big as a tennis ball. It is cold. It seems to be fruit. It seems to be citrus.

Is it a lemon? Yummy!!!

You got it! It's a lemon! I love it, too!

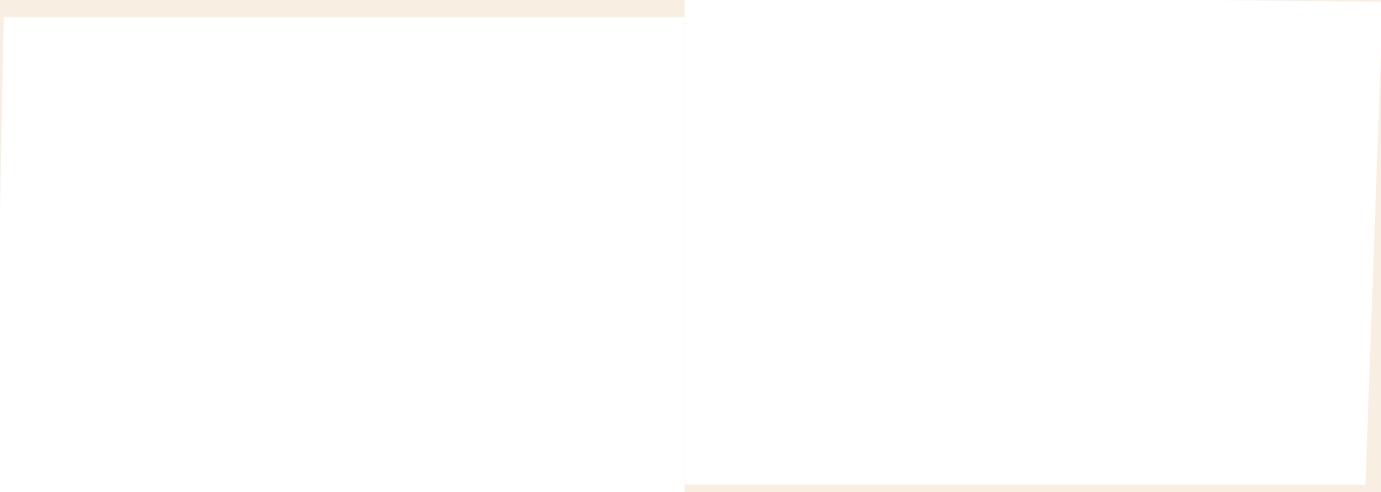

As you know now, I am vegan. In my class, not many of my classmates know what being vegan entails. How much do you know about being vegan?

Listen to an expert talking about the difference between being vegetarian and being vegan. What are the differences? You can access the script in this link

The basics of Veganism

Do you know what veganism is? It might be a complete mystery for you or maybe you know a vegan, maybe you are a vegan yourself. A To be vegan people cannot eat any animal products or byproducts; so veganism is not eating meat, but also egg, cheese, butter, etc. Everything needs to be of a vegetable origin; so, instead of drinking cow milk, they drink almond milk or coconut milk.

At the beginning it may sound difficult but not necessarily. Usually people gain interest in veganism because they heard it somewhere, it can be a friend, or a family member, or even a YouTuber who promotes vegan lifestyle, such as Freelee the banana girl. There are many reasons why people decide to go vegan. B But there's also a matter of health; there are several studies that claim a vegetable-based diet helps lower blood pressure and cholesterol and some scholars even say it can prevent heart diseases.

Going vegan is not so easy, anyway. The first weeks of transitions are very difficult because your body is used to getting animal protein, so you first need to detox. You need to be very cautious because otherwise it could be bad for your health. You can't just stop eating meat and dairy one day. C

It is a good idea to start by having the vegetable-based dishes you already like more often.

D That implies hard work, spending a lot of money on expensive products and you even run the risk of not liking it. Start with simple dishes like salad, stuffed eggplant or squash, lentil stew, or even pasta if you don't have any vegetables at home.

Another important fact is that veganism is not only about vegetables, you need to keep a controlled balance of all the nutrients your body need. So you should split equally between fruit and grains, such as rice. If you decide to transition, you should be ready to learn a lot about the way your body works, how important your diet is, how to read food labels, etc. E Deciding to become a vegan usually comes with a consciousness of your body and your health. Yet this is not because veganism is a synonym of health but because they all share an individual desire of feeling and being healthy.

Many people usually associate veganism with deprivation but, having many vegan friends myself, I can assure you there are plenty of vegan preparations and recipes that are simply delicious, and you can eat chocolate cakes, ice-creams, pizzas, even hamburgers; you just have to find the right ingredients.

Now, here's the ideas you should bear in mind if you ever consider going vegan: It is not something you can do in the blink of an eye; you will not suffer or force yourself to eat things you don't like, it will improve your health as long as you attend to it. Finally, I'd like to share one of my most precious principles, this is something I didn't mention before, you must be respectful of other people's diet and cannot impose your decisions on them.

Written by Martina Fernández Facciolo.

* Here are the sentences to put into the correct blank.

1 Do not start with a recipe somebody shared on Instagram.

2 It is important to make a smooth transition and cut down the amount of meat and processed food intake while you increase vegetable-based meals.

3 I do not know any vegans who are not healthy, truly.

4 Many times it is related to animal exploitation and the industry's cruelty in its means and quantity.

5 Veganism is very popular nowadays, all throughout the world and in Uruguay.

Pancakes, yay!!!!

#livingUruguay2

Pancakes are very popular in different areas of the world. In the United States, pancakes are part of most of the families' breakfast. There is even a chain restaurant that specializes in pancakes. In Uruguay, pancakes are slightly different. They are usually associated with a dessert rather than a main dish. When pancakes are the main dish they are called cannelloni and they have an Italian origin. Do you like pancakes?

- * Go to the Internet and find an American chain restaurant that specializes in pancakes.
 - * Go to a menu and choose the pancake you think you would like the most.
 - * How much do you know about pancakes?
 - * See the following sentences and say whether they are true or false.
- 1 Pancakes are basically a flat cake.
2 They are cooked on a hot pan.
3 It is a very modern dish.
4 It is a good meal for lactose intolerant people.
5 In North America, pancakes are fluffy.
- * Check your answers in the following website <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pancake>

Cooking pancakes is not very difficult. Here I found my grandma's recipe from her recipe book. But there are some things I don't still understand. Help me cook them.

- * These are the utensils we need to cook the pancakes. Match the utensils with their names.

- * This is the procedure, but there are some spots or some blanks in it. Use words from the previous exercises and complete the procedure. You also need to use some ingredients.

- 1 Sift the flour and salt into a [redacted].
- 2 Break the [redacted] in the mixture.
- 3 [redacted] the egg into the flour.
- 4 Add the milk and whisk until it is smooth.
- 5 Heat the frying pan and put the [redacted] in it.
- 6 Pour batter into the hot [redacted].
- 7 Flip the pancakes over and cook on the other side.

These are the ingredients to cook pancakes:

- * 1 egg
- * 1 cup of milk
- * 4 teaspoons of flour
- * 1 pinch of salt
- * 1 tablespoon of oil

Easy, isn't it? Thanks for your help. What about cooking them? What would you like to fill them with? Dulce de leche (caramel)? Chocolate? Jam?

What you like to eat really matters!

- A Draw an empty plate on a sheet of paper.
- B Think and draw your favorite dish on the plate.
- C Choose three ingredients and draw them separately on the plate.

Lunch is served!

Lunch is one of the four traditional meals of the day. We usually have breakfast in the morning, we have lunch at around midday, we have tea or coffee in the afternoon and we have dinner at night.

For some cultures, breakfast is the most important meal. That is probably the case of the United States of America. For other cultures, lunch is the most important meal of the day. That could be the case of most Latin American countries such as Uruguay. Finally, there are other countries in which dinner could be very important.

Through lunch we can see the different cultures in the different countries. Have a look at the following pics.

Look at these plates. They are 4 types of lunch. They are familiar to us because the Uruguayan population is mostly formed by immigrants.

Did you know?

Tea time was created in the United Kingdom. It is said that Anna, the seventh Duchess of Bedford, in the year 1840, invented a meal to shorten the time between lunch and dinner. She started with the tradition of having tea with sandwiches at 5 o'clock. This tradition is still common nowadays in Britain and in other countries.

Where are these types of lunch from?

* Label each picture.

BREAKFAST

What do you eat for breakfast?

What would your ideal breakfast look like?

Source: <https://pxhere.com>

Breakfast is a very important meal to me. I usually get up with plenty of time to have my breakfast. You know that I am vegan so I don't eat eggs or cheese but I love almond or soy milk with cereal and some vegan chocolate muffins and a glass of orange juice. I am interested in knowing more about what people have for breakfast internationally. Look at this text and help me put the titles below into the right blank.

It's time for an international breakfast!

#livingUruguay2

Read the text and match the subtitles with the corresponding paragraph:

Did you know?

Pay attention to the spelling of some words in the text. For example, favourite and savoury have the British spelling. The American spelling is favorite and savory. In the case of realised (BrE), it can also be written realized (AmE).

- a Different breakfast habits
 - b The importance of having breakfast
 - c First try, then judge
 - d We finally agree!
 - e Different places, different tastes
- 1 I bet you don't have breakfast most mornings, do you? Here in Uruguay, most people don't have breakfast or they just eat something on the run. That isn't healthy at all because breakfast is a very important meal; actually, all four meals are but without breakfast you start off the day without the needed energy. Do you sometimes feel tired and weak in the morning? Breakfast might be the answer!
- 2 Some years ago, I went on a scholarship to the US and I stayed at a place with people from all over the world. During that time, I saw what the fellows had for breakfast and let me tell you there's a great difference in what people choose to have for breakfast. You know, countries do have national dishes, like our asado, and tastes are different too; in Asia for example they use very different spices than the ones we use here. But for me it was difficult to think of a breakfast that doesn't include bread or milk.
- 3 My breakfast is a cup of milk and bread or a toast. But some people had black coffee with no sugar and some sweet biscuits, others would have just cereal and my Tunisian friend ate a toast with hot sauce on it! How crazy are these people? But then I tried their breakfast; one day I had only cereal, the following day I had the sugarless coffee with sweet biscuits and, to be honest, I loved each one of the combinations.
- 4 Then the Americans came and offered some scrambled eggs with bacon, and although I felt it was too much for the morning, I tried it. Guess what? I loved it too! The French drank hot chocolate while the Vietnamese would ask for hot water for his noodles, and of course, everyone was staring at my mate.
- 5 By the end of our six-week stay most of us had tried different tastes and habits, and we realised that we all enjoyed the experience...after all, that's what internationality is all about, right? C'mon, try some international breakfast at home. You'll love it.

- * Let's talk about you and your breakfast. Take a look at the following table. Read the questions and think of the answers for 2 or 3 minutes. You can answer the questions or take notes under the column that says "me".

	My friend	Me
What time do you usually have breakfast?
Who do you have breakfast with?
Where do you have breakfast?
Do you prepare your own breakfast?
Do you have a hot drink? Which one?
Do you eat any cereal or bread? What do you have?
Do you eat any fruit? What kind?

- 1 Now get in pairs and ask and answer questions with your partner. Write down some information your partner gives you.
- 2 Write a short report of what your classmate does for breakfast. Do you do similar things? Compare them. You can use phrases from the S.O.S. Box.

E.g. Martin usually has breakfast in the kitchen. He has black coffee and toast, etc. or Gonzalo usually has coffee for breakfast in the same way that I do. However, he has cookies, while I prefer eating an apple.

Which of these reasons to go vegan are mentioned in the video?

- * Students get in pairs to practice the short exchanges between Johnno and Ruby at the beginning and at the end of the video, they get ready to role play. Teacher checks pronunciation and intonation.

Transcript of the video

Johnno: Ruby, Happy World Vegan Day! I made you this cake.

Ruby: Thanks, Johnno. It's, um, definitely vegan.

Vegans can be hard to cook for. Like vegetarians, they don't eat meat. But they also rule out other animal products, like eggs, milk and sometimes even honey.

There are different reasons people choose to be vegan, like animal welfare or as a way to eat healthier.

But there's another reason that's been getting a lot of attention recently. Last month, a big study came out looking into the effect our food has on the environment. And it found that eating less meat is one of the most important things we can do to help the planet.

You see a huge amount of the earth's resources go into raising livestock for meat. In some places, forests are cleared to make space for animals and to grow their food. They also use a lot of water. And these ones in particular create a lot of carbon emissions. Cow burps and farts account for about 16 per cent of global greenhouse gas emissions. The study says, to prevent permanent damage to our planet, the average world citizen needs to eat 75 per cent less beef, 90 per cent less pork and 50 per cent fewer eggs.

Of course, not everyone's going to go vegan or give up eating meat completely. But swapping your beef for beans or your chicken for chickpeas every so often might not be such a bad idea.

Ruby: All right, Johnno, try this.

Johnno: Mmm. This is vegan?

Ruby: Yeah. It's not all rabbit food..

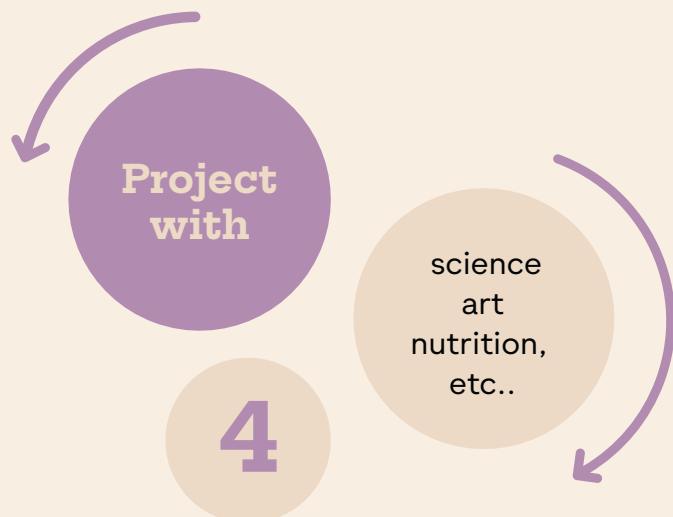

Four corners: Teacher sticks four papers on the corners of the classroom:

- Strongly agree
- Agree
- Disagree
- Strongly disagree

Give students different prompts for them to choose the corner according to their opinion. Once in the corner each group discusses the reasons for their opinion. They share the reasons orally:

- * “I think that eating only vegetables is enough for a healthy diet”
- * “I consider that eating meat is very important for a healthy diet”
- * “I don't think we should buy any animal products: clothes make up, etc”
- * Tip for teachers: this activity can easily be used for any purpose.

Scientists have researched that we perceive the different tastes with different parts of the tongue. Whether the food is salty, sour, bitter or sweet, the part of the tongue that intervenes is a different one. In the following picture you will see what part of the tongue is in charge of perceiving each type of taste.

MATE PROJECT

Having mate is very popular among Uruguayans of all ages.
People drink mate all day, every day.

- 1 But how much do you know about mate?
- 2 Where does it come from?
- 3 What's the origin?
- 4 Is it healthy? Why?

The legend of Yerba Mate

The Guarani tribes worked the land and became excellent craftsmen. At certain moments, the tribe would clear part of the forest, plant manioc and corn, but after four or five years the soil would be worn out and the tribe had to move on.

Once an old Indian refused to go on and preferred to stay where he was. The youngest of his daughters, beautiful Jary, had to choose between going with the tribe or stay to help the old man until death would take him. At the end, she stayed with her father.

This love gesture deserved a prize. One day, an unknown shaman arrived at the ranch and asked Jary "What do you want to be happy?" The girl didn't say anything. But the old man said: "I want new forces to go on." The shaman gave him a very green plant, perfumed with kindness, and told him to plant it, pick the leaves, dry them on fire, grind them, put the pieces in a gourd, add cold or hot water, and sip the infusion. "In this new beverage, you will find a healthy company." After this, he went away. In this way a new beverage was born, mate.

Sipping the green sap, the old man recovered, gained new strengths and was able to continue his long journey to meet the tribe. They were received with the greatest joy.

And the whole tribe adopted the habit of drinking the green herb, bitter and sweet, that gave strength and courage and would comfort friendships at the saddest hours of solitude.

Text adapted from: <http://www.gauchogourmet.com/the-legend-of-yerba-mate.html>

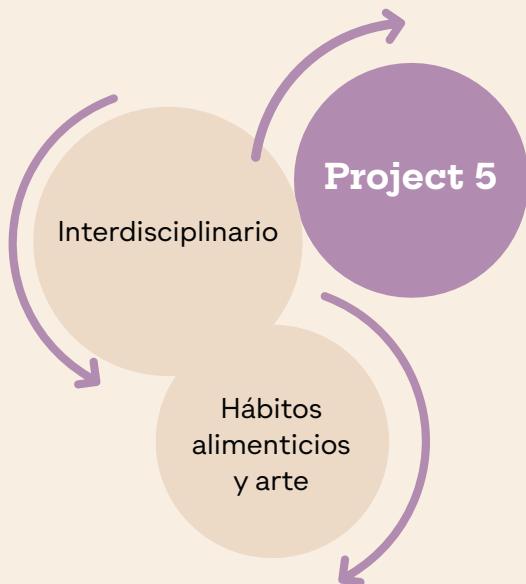

Did you know?

Mate is known or perceived by English speakers as green tea. Each time the expression mate has been heard in movies, the translation used is “green tea”. You know that mate comes from a bush, which is similar to tea, and you can have it hot (as in Uruguay) or cold (as in Paraguay). The gourd is the container in which yerba mate is put, together with a straw. There are some beliefs about mate...read about the following situations and what each of them means. What do you think? Do you have any other beliefs about mate?

What about having a “mate” (green tea in a gourd)?

- If someone gives you a bitter mate, it means that person is rather indifferent to you.
- If you have a sweet mate, it means friendship.
- If someone serves you a very sweet mate, it means that person is interested in you.
- If someone serves you a pretty hot mate, that person is in love with you.
- If the mate is cold, it means the server doesn't care about others.
- When someone offers you a mate with cinnamon, it means that person is absolutely interested in you.
- If someone gives you a mate with burnt sugar, it's because that person feels you can be a good friend.
- If the mate has orange peel, that person needs you to help him.
- If someone includes tea in the mate, it means that the person doesn't care whether you are going back or not.
- When someone offers a mate with coffee, the person is forgiving you for something wrong you may have done.
- If you get mate with milk, it means you are considered to be a nice person.
- A hot-water mate means a marriage is about to happen.
- If you have to try hard to drink the mate, it means someone is rejecting you.
- If it happens to have a sparkling or foamy mate, it means people feel comfortable with you.

Tema	Hábitos alimenticios
Tópico	Identificar diferentes frutas y verduras y clasificarlas en “el plato” OMS
Objetivo	Repasar o volver a enseñar vocabulario relacionado a la alimentación: frutas, plantas y verduras.
Asignaturas involucradas	Biología, Dibujo, Geografía, Informática e Inglés
Profesores involucrados	Verónica Vaz (Dibujo)	Kenia Fleitas (Biología)	Fabián García (Geografía)	Juan Queijo (Inglés)
Materiales	Diferentes imágenes que utilizan la técnica de collage para la creación de retratos utilizando frutas, verduras, flores.

Resumen ejecutivo del proyecto:

Pretendemos por la realización de este proyecto familiarizar al estudiante con elementos que generen el intercambio sobre la variedad de frutas, plantas y verduras que pueden formar parte de una dieta balanceada. Al mismo tiempo que habilite a descubrir la procedencia geográfica de los distintos componentes, y su clasificación en los grupos de alimentos propuestos por OMS/ OPS. En las áreas artístico-tecnológicas, trabajar la técnica de trabajo y edición sobre una imagen.

Sustento teórico:

ESINER, Elliot W. El ojo ilustrado: Indagación cualitativa y mejora de la práctica educativa. Paidós Educador, 1990. GOLDSTEIN, B. Working with Images. CUP, Handbooks for Language Teachers, 2009.

Procedimiento:

Clase de inglés

- 1- Se presenta la imagen a los estudiantes junto a la ficha de actividades.
- 2- En binas, se les pide que marquen entre la lista de palabras de vegetales, frutas y plantas que ellos ven. Los estudiantes clasifican las frutas, verduras y flores en la columna correcta de un wordmap. Pueden usar el diccionario para ayudarse. Algunas pueden pertenecer a más de una categoría: fruit& vegetables, dairy, sweet snacks, meat and fish, carbs, drinks, other.
- 3- Se pone en común la actividad. Se pregunta ¿Cuáles de todas las frutas y verduras consumen con mayor frecuencia?, ¿cuáles consumen con menor frecuencia?, ¿cuáles no consumen nunca?
- 4- Los estudiantes dialogan sobre la procedencia de las distintas frutas, plantas y verduras. Identificando cuáles se cultivan en el Uruguay y cuáles no. Como opción de profundización los estudiantes investigan sobre los lugares y técnicas de producción y procesamiento para el consumo que se aplican a aquellas producidas en el exterior. Por los temas tratados en geografía y biología los alumnos extrapolan e integran y producen información obtenida en esos espacios educativos.
- 5- Lectura del texto adaptado “TheHealthyEatingPyramid”, adaptado de www.gymnasticstuff.com/eat_healthy_article.htm Los estudiantes realizan un ejercicio de "True, False or Doesn't say".
- 6- Los estudiantes escuchan una entrevista a un especialista hablando sobre la pirámide de alimentos. Ellos deben marcar los items que el entrevistado menciona y que no aparecen en la ilustración.
- 7- Los estudiantes observando la ilustración completan la tabla en la columna correcta: (countableoruncountablenouns).
- 8- En binas, los estudiantes observan la ilustración y le cuentan a su compañero sobre sus hábitos alimenticios. Luego cambian roles. (Present Simple).

En clase de dibujo e informática

Los estudiantes abordan diferentes técnicas para trabajar sobre una fotografía o retrato y componer y editar la imagen utilizando frutas, flores y verduras. Los estudiantes tomando una fotografía aplican la técnica.

En clase de Geografía

Los estudiantes indagan sobre la procedencia de aquellos items que no son autóctonos. Indagan sobre cuánto reporta a los países productores, cuáles son los procesos de exportación internacional.

En clase de Biología

Los estudiantes indagan sobre los procesos de cultivo y producción de los distintos items. Indagan sobre los nutrientes que aportan al ser humano sobre su consumo. Incluso, si el grupo le interesa o permite se indaga sobre el consumo de alimentos que en uruguay no se realiza, por ejemplo insectos. Por esto se espera que el estudiante profundice sobre vitaminas, proteínas y elementos nutricionales de las distintas frutas, flores y verduras.

Producto final:

- Utilizando las técnicas trabajadas en Dibujo e Informática se espera que los estudiantes sean capaces de producir una fotografía o retrato.
- Los estudiantes preparan una versión de “El plato” incluyendo verduras, frutas y flores a cada uno de los cuatro grupos. Así como una presentación explicando los criterios para incluirlos en cada uno de los grupos y los nutrientes que aportan.

Song: Tom's diner

Suzanne Vega

I am sitting in the morning
At the diner on the corner
I am waiting at the counter
For the man to pour the coffee

And he fills it only halfway
And before I even argue
He is looking out the window
At somebody coming in

"It is always nice to see you"
Says the man behind the counter
To the woman who has come in
She is shaking her umbrella

And I look the other way
As they are kissing their hellos
And I'm pretending not to see them
Instead, I pour the milk

I open up the paper
There's a story of an actor
Who had died while he was drinking
It was no one I had heard of

And I'm turning to the horoscope
And looking for the funnies
When I'm feeling someone watching me
And so I raise my head

There's a woman on the outside
Looking inside, does she see me?
No, she does not really see me
Cause she sees her own reflection

And I'm trying not to notice
That she's hitching up her skirt
And while she's straightening her stockings
Her hair has gotten wet

Oh, this rain it will continue
Through the morning as I'm listening
To the bells of the cathedral
I am thinking of your voice

And of the midnight picnic once upon a time
Before the rain began...
And I finish up my coffee
And it's time to catch the train

1 Students listen to the song while they read the lyrics.

Then, working in groups of four, they draw six different moments of the song that they choose following the layout of a comic with some scripts that describe what is going on in each square. This activity can be coordinated with the Art teacher.

After that, they invent how the story described continues and draw it in the last two squares.

The students tell the story based on the notes that they produced in their charts and make a video using any app.

The students watch the videos of all their classmates

1	2	3	4
5	6	7	8

2 The students, divided into the small groups, are assigned a stanza from the song and they have some minutes to rehearse the actions of that stanza. Then, each group will roleplay that stanza to the rest of the classmates while listening to the song.

One group roleplays the first stanza, another one the second one and so on as to cover all the lyrics of the song. Meanwhile the rest of the students pay attention to their peers' performances.

3 The teacher provides students with another version of the song in which there are some blanks in the first and second stanza. The students have to think of different words and phrases to complete those blanks in order to create a new version of the song.

Finally, each group sings the new version that they have created.

I am [redacted] in the [redacted].

At the [redacted] on the corner.

I am [redacted] in the [redacted].

For the man to [redacted] the [redacted]

And he [redacted] and before I even argue.

He is [redacted] at somebody coming in.

Sports

As you can see, sports are an important part of free time activities. Look at the text I wrote for school and underline the sports you find.

Exercise is good for the body. Nobody doubts about it. People want to keep fit and look fantastic, but sometimes they do not choose the correct sport and they lose interest. This is why there are fitness experts who give advice to help us choose the appropriate activity.

For example, people who like to be with other people can choose a sport like squash, golf, basketball, football, or hockey because they can be part of a team. However, if you prefer to be on your own, you could jog or go swimming.

There is another factor that should be taken into account. Do you like competing? If you really like competing, you can try a sport like running or a racket sport such as tennis or badminton. But if competing is not something you really like, there are other activities like dancing that you can choose. Dancing is an activity in which you do not need to show you are better than another person.

Finally, you have other options like weightlifting or cycling. You can also take Taekwondo or skiing lessons. As you can see, there is no excuse for not doing any exercise.

According to the passage, where would you put the sports from the text?

- ★ All answers might be correct.

Team sports

Individual sports

Competitive sports Recreational sports

Indoor sports

Outdoor sports

My teacher wants us to organize the vocabulary related to sports into thinking maps. Choose three of the sports from the text, draw a bubble thinking map and write vocabulary related to each of them. You can include gear, rules, and any other info you consider as relevant. Here you have an example.

history

rules

name of the sport characteristics

With sports, we normally use:

Play for team sports and ball sports.

I play basketball.

Go for sports that end in -ing

He goes swimming.

Do for individual sports not ending in -ing and with competitive sports even if they end in -ing do gymnastics, do karate, do boxing, do weightlifting.

As you know, I love sports, but I am not familiar with the rules of sports. I was given this quiz at school. I don't know the answers. Can you help me put the two halves together?

- 1 There are two goals
- 2 There are eighteen holes
- 3 You hit a ball over a net
- 4 People wear goggles on their eyes
- 5 In volleyball

A with a racket on a tennis court.

B you hit a ball over a net with your hands.

C in a football pitch.

D in a golf course.

Traveling around Uruguay

Emma, Lua and Nico have a particular free time activity. They love traveling. In the picture you see the three of them in Young, a city in Rio Negro. Read the texts and write the name of the character in each box (Lua, Nico or Emma).

"I think that Young is a beautiful city. It is a city that is on the way to Montevideo for those who live in the northwest of Uruguay. In Young you can visit several places: there are a lot of green spaces such as squares and parks. My favorite square is the one that has the train. I also like the local dairy company. Its products are delicious. My favorite food is the mango yogurt".

"I agree with you Emma, Young is a beautiful city. People are very nice there. Everybody waves and says hello. There are a lot of tourists and travelers in the city. There are a lot of restaurants and bars. Restaurants have traditional Uruguayan dishes including barbecue, beef sandwich (chivito), steak and homemade salads. I also love the desserts these restaurants serve. They have milhojas, puddings, rice pudding, cakes and mousse."

"I agree with you, girls. I also like the natural aspect of Young. I have seen some typical gauchos. They dress with unique clothes and they ride their horses. I love riding horses and it is easy to do it here. Another thing that I like from Young is the new bus terminal. It's a very modern place for the many people who travel in the area. I also like the croissants from the bakeries in Young. They are delicious".

Did you know?

The city of Young was named after Carlos Young, an engineer who built the railways in the city. When the city was settled, its name was pronounced in English but later on, and until now, people pronounce the name as /yun/. Young has one of the most fertile soils in Uruguay and for that reason a good part of the rural production of the country comes from that area. Dairy products and dairy farms are of excellent quality in this area.

Let's work in groups:

The three accounts give information about Young. Design a poster with all the info you have about Young. Now share information about one city the group likes. Give an account of the place you want to share. Record a video, create an Instagram Story or a Facebook post, or make a TikTok video about the city and what you want to say about it.

Brainstorming

Hey buddy, I can see that you like sports. Who's your favorite athlete?

I admire many athletes. I think Forlán is a great player and a better coach. I admire Deborah Rodriguez a lot. She was my neighbor years ago. Do you want to know who she is? Here is some information that will be useful for you.

Deborah Rodríguez Guelmo was born in Montevideo on 2nd December, 1992. She is a popular athlete and a model, too. Deborah lives with her parents and her brother Angel. Angel is also a famous athlete. He plays in the professional Uruguayan football league.

Deborah competes in track and field professionally. For that reason, she practices every day at the track next to Centenario Stadium. She always gets up at six o'clock, has a light breakfast (fruit and milk) and takes the bus to the stadium at seven o'clock. She trains for three hours, has some chicken or salad for lunch and trains for three or more hours with her coach. She wears very comfortable athletic clothes. She loves wearing purple T-shirts and white shorts. In the evening, she studies and goes to bed early, usually before ten o'clock.

She participated in the Winter Games in Rio. She has won eight medals from local and regional championships, but she is training hard to achieve her objective of winning an Olympic medal.

Source: Caras y Caretas

* Nico is telling Emma about Freddie and his favorite athlete. Is he correct?

Deborah likes comfy clothes.

Freddie lived in Montevideo years ago.

She trains for 3 hours a day.

Deborah usually goes to bed at midnight.

Deborah is the only one in the family who loves sports.

In the text, Deborah says that she likes comfortable clothes. I love comfy clothes, too. I wear them on the weekend or in my free time. Today, I am wearing a light blue cap with a rainbow stamped on it. It's my favorite cap. I am also wearing a pair of pink pants, a white polo shirt, blue sneakers and a red and blue jacket. Do you like wearing comfy clothes? What are you wearing now?

- Today I am wearing...

- One of my favorite sports is swimming. I don't swim but I love watching swimming races and it is a sport that I follow in the Olympics. One swimmer I look up to is Dan. Listen to an interview with Dan.

Write down an activity he does in his daily life.

- Dan mentions several activities he does every day. Have a look at the following activities and highlight the one he does not mention.

Hey guys! Lua likes swimming. But, like my dad, I prefer more unusual sports. My dad told me about his favorite sport when he was a child.

"When I was a child, I used to play with broomstick horses. They are called hobby horses. I remember we used to play with a stick with a small horse head like the one in the picture. I remember hobby horses from the store were really expensive. Granny used to make them for us or we just used to play with the brooms from home. She used to get angry because we used to play with her cleaning stuff. We used to spend the whole afternoon playing horse-riding competitions. It was so funny!"

Nowadays, there are real competitions. Did you know there is a competition in Finland? Finns compete in an annual hobby horse championship. We could watch some videos one of these days".

What did your father use to play with when he was a child?

Was it easy to get the elements to do it?

Could he buy hobby horses?

Did he use to compete in that sport?

Hello! My name is Victoria Martínez, “Vicky” for short. I was born on 3rd March, 2003 in Montevideo. I am a student and a football player. A typical day in my life starts early in the morning. I usually get up at 6 am, except for the weekends when I never get up early. First I dress, I brush my teeth, and comb my hair. Then, I tidy my bedroom. Next, I prepare breakfast; I often have toast with cheese and yoghurt with cereal or coffee with milk and fruit. Before I leave home, I prepare mate to take to my lessons.

At 6:40 I have to take the bus. I study at the UTU called Instituto Superior de Comercio y Administración. Lessons start at 7:30. During the 5-minute-break, I play table tennis or I play cards with my classmates. Around midmorning, I go to the canteen and eat fruit or a cereal bar. When the lessons finish, I go back to the canteen to have lunch and I also do some homework. For lunch, I often have chicken with salad or tuna salad.

After that, I go to the Centenario Stadium to train with the team. I play football in Liverpool and in Uruguay's national team. We have an hour trip to arrive at the place where we train. After the practice finishes, my friends and I take a shower and then we have a snack together. We always have rice cookies and yoghurt with cereals, almonds and walnuts.

Finally, I arrive home at around 9:30 pm and I spend some time with my family while we have dinner. We sometimes have spinach omelets or lentil hamburgers with salad. Next I play a bit with my dog. I brush my teeth and I prepare the bag for the following day. The last thing I do before sleeping is to lay down in bed and chat with my friends.

Emma admires Matias Presa, a famous and hard-working Uruguayan athlete from Melo, in Cerro Largo. Here is a picture of him. By looking at the picture, what can you say about him? Now, read this text that Matias wrote for you.

- It helps with mental health.
It helps you breathe better.
It helps you accept challenges.
It helps you relax your feet.
It helps you work toward your objectives.
It is a social activity.
You travel a lot.
It's a competitive sport.

To make an effort is worthy

A) 6- Place and date of birth

My name is Matías Presa, I was born on October 17th, 1990 in Melo, Uruguay. I went to school number 11 from that city. I had a very happy childhood, I always enjoyed bicycles because I come from a family of cyclists who would take part in competitions.

B)

In my teenage years, I practiced sports professionally. I used to play football for Boca Juniors in Melo. After some time, I decided to follow my grandfather and uncle's steps. At the age of 16, I participated in the first bicycle race in a neighborhood of Melo called "Barrio Modelo". Even though the bicycle I used for that race was a common one, I arrived in second place. From that day on, I felt a strong vocation towards cycling and I have devoted myself full-time to this activity.

C)

Later, I started taking part in races with teams from other provinces such as the "Platense" from Tacuarembó, "Alas Rojas" from Santa Lucia as well as with the local team "Club Ciclista Cerro Largo".

D)

With a lot of dedication and perseverance, I started reaching some of my goals. I was able to participate in international championships with the Uruguayan Cycling team in several races in different countries such as Mexico, Argentina, Chile, Colombia, Brazil and Bolivia. I was also on two Spanish teams. In 2017, I was part of "Kuota" a team from Asturias. In 2019, I raced with the team "Cortizo" from Galicia. It was a wonderful experience because I won some races and in others I was ranked among the top 10.

E)

In my career I learned a lot from success but I learnt more from failure. It is important not to give up and be gritty. "You guys: always try to improve and be a better version of yourselves, because "every race" in life is a new opportunity".

- As you could see, the text has some blank spaces. These spaces are for the subheadings of the text. Put the following subheadings into the correct blank space. There is an extra one.

2. First professional steps.
3. The importance of effort.
4. Discovering my passion.
5. Childhood and teenage years.

- Kobe Bryant was a mega super star from the NBA who passed away in a helicopter accident. Freddie loves basketball and he especially admires Kobe. He had to write a text about a person he admires and he wrote the following one. There are three ideas that are not correct. Find them.

The person I admire is Kobe Bryant. He was born in Chicago in 1978. When he was six, his family moved to Italy. When he came back to the United States, he excelled in high school basketball and he joined the NBA when he was 17. He became famous in 1996 as the first shooting guard in basketball history to be drafted out of school. He played with The Lakers and he was the season's MVP (Most Valuable Player) in 2007-08. The sport world was in shock when the NBA star died in a helicopter accident when it fell down in the city of Calabasas, in Los Angeles, California on 6th January 2020. He was 45 years old. He travelled with 8 people, including his 13-year-old daughter, Gianna.

Tip for students: You can surf the internet and find what information is wrong in this text.

- * Lua does not know who Kobe Bryant was. She wants to ask Freddie some questions but she doesn't know what to ask. See what Freddie answers and write the questions.

He was a famous basketball player.

He played in The Lakers.

The accident was in Calabasas, LA.

No, he wasn't alone in the helicopter.

- * I didn't know much about Kobe Bryant and it's a real pity he passed away. Now, I want to know more about the accident. Can you help me find information? Surf the net and get info to complete this chart about the accident.

- * Kobe had a Uruguayan friend and colleague, Enrique Tucuna. Enrique, or Quico for short, used to play basketball at the NBA several years ago. You can google for information about Enrique. In his last visit to the USA, Enrique shared a song with his friends. This song was written by the Uruguayan singer Fernanda Ferreira. Enrique wants to remember Kobe with this song.

many important things.
Each hug making me feel better,

Smile for me forever and I'll sing this simple song.

Time for reflection

- * Get in pairs and have a look at the following words:

calmness - energy - enough sleep - fitness - friendship - nutrition - study

Project

The person you want to be...

Part 1 – The message in the bottle

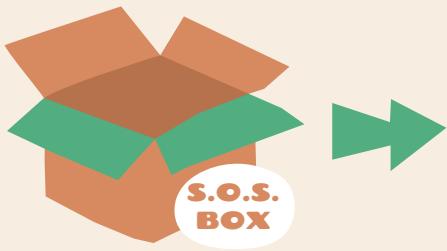

Now imagine you achieved your dream. You became that person you dreamed of.

- ★ Write a letter to yourself from the future being that person you dreamed of. Tell yourself who you are, where you are, how you got there, and who helped you. Explain everything you did to achieve your dream.

- ★ Remember the layout of a letter:

- Write the date.
- Start your letter addressing the person you are writing to: Dear....,
- Write the content of the letter into paragraphs.
- Finish your letter with a greeting and your signature: Yours sincerely,...
- Put the letter into a small bottle or container as you see it in the picture. Leave it on a shelf so as you can have it nearby to remind you of how important your dream is.

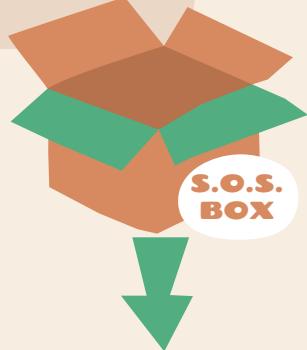

If you want to succeed in (something), you should...

In order to achieve your goal, you have to...

You may...

You should ask for advice to...

No matter how difficult things may be, never give up.

Part 2- Who I was born to be

Now that you are that person you dreamed of, record a video characterized as your future self.

Dress up in the outfit that you would be wearing and the tools or equipment that you would be using to perform that activity. Tell us about who you are, where you are, your daily activities, what you enjoy about your occupation and the steps you followed to achieve your dream.

Upload the video to CREA, watch at least three of your classmates' videos and leave a comment in each one. Use the following set of rubrics (see attachment below) to assess your classmates' work.

Rubrics for project presentations at the end of this book.

I am passionate about...
I really enjoy...
I'm keen on...*

What about your abilities?

All of us have a special ability. Let's share them!

Each of you is going to share a special ability. It could be something you study or practice, like traditional activities teenagers do (practicing a sport, playing an instrument, telling jokes, writing poems, etc.); but it could also be something you just learned by yourselves or on the Internet (cooking, imitating voices, acting, crafting, etc.).

It could be a class in the patio or another place where each of you can show your ability (dancing, singing, and acting) or the product you make (a painting, a drawing, a handcraft, etc.).

Tip for teachers: The following class, the teacher can work with a thinking map to organize information. For example, students can say how they started practicing the activity, how they feel...etc. In this way, each student will show that there is a connection between our feelings and our art, and that each of us has a special ability. This can be useful as a pre-writing activity in which students express how they feel or how they express their feelings by acting, dancing, playing football, etc

Rubrics for project presentations at the end of this book.

Project

Project 6 – Your everyday activities in the media.

The teacher asks the students what they do when they are at home. The teacher asks the students to record a video with the activities they do in their free time. The video and the activities from this unit could help the learners develop vocabulary and structures to express their ideas. A possible suggestion could be to include a poster presentation, a video presentation, an Instagram story or a TikTok video about their lives at home.

Project

Leisure activities at my school.

This project can be implemented with various teachers: Spanish teacher, English teacher, PE teacher, Science teachers, Art teacher, among others.

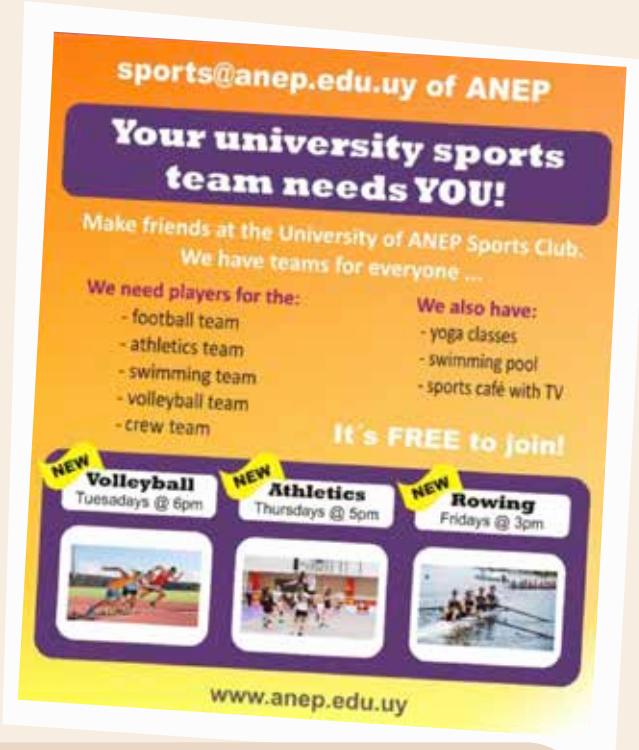

Have a look at the following post you found in the website of Políticas Lingüísticas.

What type of text is this?

What is the objective of the text?

Where can you find it?

Do you think it is useful? Why?

Your school is developing students' participation in athletics. Create a poster to promote all the activities that are offered at school.

Write an email applying to take part in any of the teams. Include in the email: your personal information, the sport you want to practice, the reasons to practice that sport and any other information you consider relevant to be chosen.

Project

The activity I used to do when I was a child.

Take a look at the text that Emma's father wrote. Think of any activity you or any member of your family used to do and you or they liked. Make a presentation with pictures or drawings to your classmates.

Project

A day with a person I admire.

You can do this project with the Spanish teacher, the English teacher, the Art teacher, the PE teacher, the Science teacher and any teacher who wants to be on board.

In this unit you read about and listened to very famous people from Uruguay. These people were very generous, and they shared the activities they do in their free time or the sports they practice.

You may have an athlete or a popular person from Uruguay that you admire. Imagine that you invite this athlete or personality to spend a day with you in your city. Think of that day and all the activities you could do together.

Create an avatar of this person or cut a picture of this person. Take pics of you and the person in those places. Create a presentation (poster, video, oral presentation, Tik Tok, etc.) to share with your classmates what you did with the person you admire.

Project Reporting on our school's healthy lifestyle.

Students are given the following interview. They have to ask the questions of the interview to 30 people at school. Then, they have to report on the responses and the possible reasons for them.

Have you got a healthy lifestyle?

Do our quick test and find out:

1 Do you participate in any sports?

- A Yes, I do. I play football and tennis.
- B No, I don't, but I love riding my bicycle.
- C No, I don't. I watch TV every afternoon.

2 What do you do during the weekend?

- A I relax at home. I watch series or read a book.
- B I go to a park, to the promenade, or to the riverside.
- C I surf the Internet and eat fast food.

3 What do you do after school?

- A I do my homework and relax.
- B I hang out with my friends.
- C I watch television and spend time with my family.

If the answers lead to the idea that those people have a healthy lifestyle, students will make a proposal to keep on improving this healthy style.

If the answers lead to the idea that the interviewees do not carry a healthy life, students will make a proposal on how to change that in the school.

This is a project that seems to be preferably written though it could be presented orally.

Project

Olympic and Paralympic games.

Source: <https://budapesteshungria.com/blog/que-tan-buenos-son-los-hungaros-en-las-olimpiadas/>

The teacher asks the students to look at this picture and describe what they see.

Students have to conduct some research using the following questions as a guide.

- What is the difference between Olympic Games and Paralympics?
- What do the Olympic rings mean?
- When are the next Olympic Games going to take place?
- How many disciplines are there? What are the most popular?
- Are there any famous Olympic sports personalities in our country?

There are some stereotypes about the Olympics and Paralympic games. Address them in your research.

- A- Olympic sports should only be for men
- B- Men and women should compete against one another
- C- Football should only be for men
- D- Gymnastics should only be for women
- E- Men like sports more than women

This project has a strong influence on the topic “Sports and Gender”. Use these sentences to keep on researching.

- What is the meaning of the word “sexist”? Look it up in a dictionary if you need it!
- Do you think Olympic Games are sexist? Why/ why not? Provide examples!
- In which disciplines do you notice female participation is more than masculine one?
- In which disciplines do you notice masculine participation is more than feminine one?

- * Do you agree that the Paralympic and the Olympics take place separately? Why /Why not?

- * Answer all these questions by creating a poster of your own! You can use cardboard or it can also be digital using any App you want!

Unit 3

CHOICES

AT THE END OF THIS UNIT, YOU WILL BE ABLE TO

- learn about different lifestyles and ways of living.
- know more about your rights and the rights of others.
- be aware of choices you have in life.
- give your opinion about some interesting topics.
- read about adolescents like you and share your interests and ideas.
- learn about immigration in Uruguay.

My choices...

- ✿ What's a choice?

Choice is the possibility you have to choose something.

When you have more than one possible path to take, or thing to choose.

Robert Frost once said:

The Road Not Taken

BY ROBERT FROST

*Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;*

*Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,*

*And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way, I doubted if I should ever come back.*

*I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.*

Voice: Professor Gabriela Kaplan

There are times in life in which you can choose.

- ✿ You can choose to wear blue or to wear red. You can choose to speak up or to remain silent.
- ✿ You can choose to cater to other people's rights, or not. This leads to the next topic.

Half of the class will work with me. You are the Emma group.

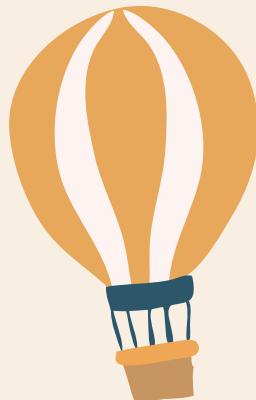

The other half will work with me. You are the Lua group.

Let's play with the parachutes!

1. Take turns and say a letter in English to discover the topic of the lesson.
2. If the letter is in the topic, the group continues.
3. If the letter is not in the topic, groups switch and you erase one rope of the parachute.
4. The groups can guess the name of the topic. If they don't guess it, we switch groups, erase one rope of the parachute and the other group continues.

Your
matters!

- * In what situation(s) do you think people are not treated equally?

These places are all in Uruguay. Do you know where in Uruguay I have been?

As you know, I love traveling. But I have a problem. I don't have money to travel next summer. I need to find a solution. What do you think I can do?

I think you should...
In my opinion, you could...
If I were you, I would...

* Now discuss with a partner and come up with a conclusion of what Nico can do to save money.

Thank you for all your ideas! I have my own solution, too! I will talk to my dad and see if he agrees with the solution I found. Listen to our conversation and see what my solution is.

- * Listen to Nico again and answer the following questions.

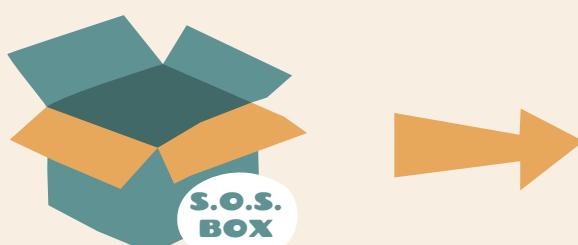

1. Where does Nico want to go?
2. How will he get the money?
3. Does his father agree with Nico's idea?
4. Where will Nico work?
5. Why do you think Nico's father thinks that way?
 - a. Because the job is too challenging for an adolescent.
 - b. Because he will not get enough money.
 - c. Because of social stereotypes.

Finding a solution

- 1 Nico will be babysitting for about six months. He is paid $ 1000 per week. Look at the holiday packs for adolescents and say where he could go and what activities he could do.

Places	Accommodation 1	Accommodation 2	Possible activities
Cabo Polonio	hostel $720	hostel $950	fishing
Almirón Hot Springs	cottage $ 600	camping $300	practicing sports
Aquatic Park in Salto	hotel $1956	hotel $ 1580	having fun

- * Where do you think he will go? What activities will he do? Get in pairs and decide that.

In our opinion, he will go to...
We think he will...
We think he will spend...

- * Project – sharing the place you want to go.

You can use the set of rubrics for oral presentations at the end of this book.

1. Bring one picture or find a picture of the place you want to go to next summer on the computer.
2. Based on the questions from the previous page, think of your next holidays.
3. Describe the place orally and say how you will manage to go.

In my everyday life I believe that to be a prince I have to be a nice and good person. I have to be kind to others and I have to listen to the people who love me. I have to work hard to get what I want. I have to accept others as they are, nobody is perfect. And I have to accept myself as a human being who is also imperfect.

In my everyday life I believe that to be a princess I have to be a good person. Helping others can be one way of being a good person. I have to be a good friend. I have to be sincere and loyal to my beloved ones. I have to follow my passion and my dreams. To achieve my goals I have to persevere and work hard. I have to be gritty.

The rehearsals were in School N°170 in Montevideo. At the age of 13, I was selected to be part of SODRE National Choir for Children. At present I continue singing but now as part of the SODRE choir for youth.

For me, music is a lifestyle, it is a way of expression that occupies a very important place in my life. Every time I am on stage I experience wonderful sensations. Music has changed my perspective of life and the ways of expressing myself. I feel proud of choosing it everyday.

Making my own personal choices for the future

My name is Joanna Castro, I am 26 years old and I am going to tell you about one of the most important decisions of my life and how it influenced the person I am today. When I was 13 and I was attending middle school number 66, I realized I wanted to be a lawyer because I was interested in justice and human rights. I thought it could be a great way to help our society become fairer. That time at middle school was wonderful; I matured and built strong bonds with different people who are still my friends.

As I have always been a good student, I finished school in due time and started studying law at university. I had to overcome lots of challenges in this new stage because life at university was very demanding. Fortunately, I got used to it and I followed my passion. I finished university two years ago and now I have a new dream: becoming a judge.

During all these stages I have changed a lot. My style is very different. For example, when I was at middle school I used to wear colorful clothes even fluorescent ones! Nowadays, I wear formal clothes like shirts and trousers. When I was a teenager, my hair was curly and now I prefer to have it straight and neatly combed. I also wear glasses, I was supposed to wear glasses at middle school as well but I didn't like how I looked. It's funny because today glasses are a fundamental part of my outfit. At that time I didn't wear any make up either and now I do.

Life is not a bed of roses but I am very grateful for those decisions I took and those experiences I went through because the person I am today is a result of that.

This tattoo shows the face of a woman, probably in a vintage version. She is wearing a navy hat and a navy dress. She has a bird on her neck and a flower on her hat. The same flower is behind the woman. This tattoo represents the love for freedom and the ocean. The navy decorations are a representation of the ocean. The bird and the flower are representations of freedom.

This tattoo shows a colorful fish. It is a popular fish you can find in the Uruguayan rivers. Its meat is tender and tasty. When the fish is an adult it can weight more than 3 kilos and it can be really big. You have to be strong to fish a piece like this.

When I was a child
I could see the wind in the trees
And I heard a song in the breeze

But I am not a girl
I have known the taste of defeat
And I have finally grown to believe
It will all come around again

[Chorus]

And though I may not Know the answers
I can finally say I am free
And if the questions
Led me here, then
I am who, I was born to be

And so here am I
Open arms and ready to stand
I've got the world in my hands
And it feels like my turn to fly

Unafraind to take in the light
Unashamed to have braved the dark

Sharing customs!

At the beginning of the class we talked about some imported customs. Find some Uruguayan customs and share them with Duma orally. Prepare a short oral presentation about it.

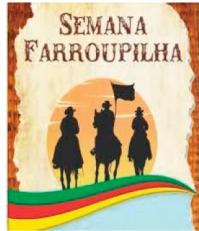

Duma wants to practice his native language. He travels to the border with Brazil and he is reading about two popular traditions that come from Brazil: farroupilha and forró.

You can use the set of rubrics for oral presentations at the end of this book.

The War of the Farrapos or the Farroupilha Revolution was the conflict that took place between 1835 and 1845 in the province of Rio Grande do Sul, in southern Brazil. During this period, the revolutionaries or "farrapos", led by Bento Gonçalves da Silva fought for the independence of Rio Grande do Sul from Brazil.

They wanted to create the "República Riograndense"

Some interesting facts about the Farroupilha Revolution.

- The Revolution was inspired by Uruguay's war for independence.
- Farroupilha comes from the word "farrapos" that means rags.
- The term "farrapo" (rag) was used by conservatives to name the Revolutionaries due to their torn clothing.
- As time went on, the Revolutionaries adopted that appellation with pride.
- Many black slaves participated in this war seeking the opportunity for liberation.

Nowadays, the Farroupilha Revolution is celebrated in all over the Rio Grande do Sul State, and in the Uruguayan provinces that border with Brazil.

Text created by Gustavo Pereira Mendez

The forró is a musical genre and a kind of dance that has its origin in the popular festivals of the interior of Brazil.

The forró is known throughout the world although it is especially popular in Brazil as a symbol of the Festival of San Juan where they are celebrated as great festivals and are held all night long. The forró is also the name given to those festivals.

The Forró is a set of various music styles and not just one. Among the various different rhythms that are commonly identified as Forró, it includes the Baião, the Coco, the Rojão, the Quadrilha, the Xaxado, the Xote, and Forró Dos Cumpadre.

Forró has become not only a music style but also a lifestyle in our Country. It is a known cultural issue mainly in our provinces that border with Brazil. But there are also some Forró communities all over Uruguay.

* After reading the texts, Duma has to complete this chart and tell the teacher about the two celebrations. Complete it for him and tell a classmate about your findings.

Educating in justice

We want to invite you to watch two fragments of very popular films. The first fragment is from the movie “Mississippi Burning”. The other fragment is from the movie “The boy in the striped pajamas”.

Your opinion matters!

- ✿ What are the films about? ✿ How was life at that time? ✿ How different is it today?
- ✿ Look for the Universal Declaration of Human Rights from 1948. Find it and read it.
- ✿ How is this Declaration connected with the movies?

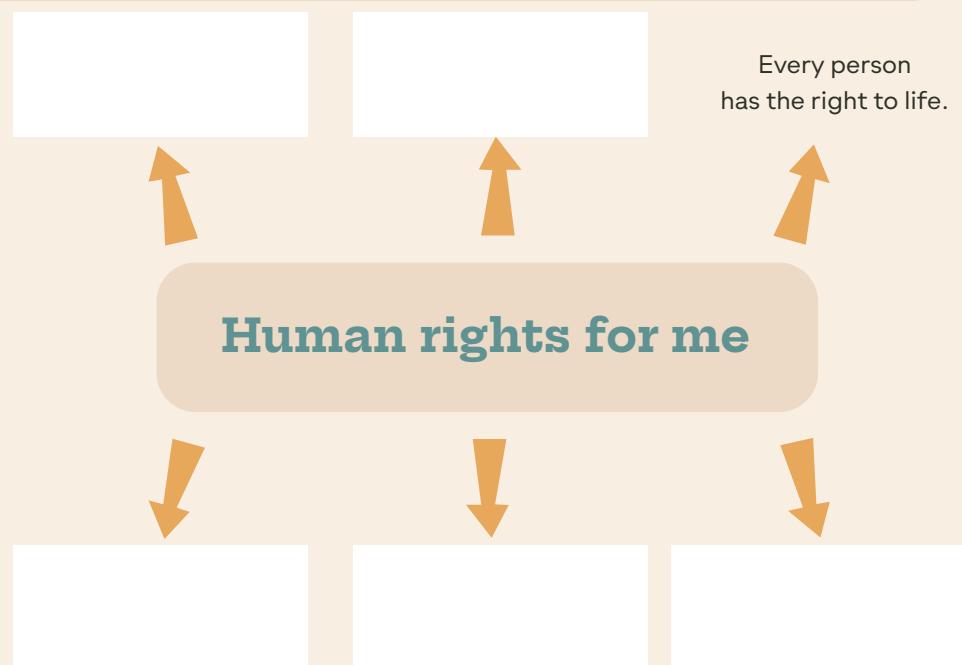

* Think of the following topics:

- Life
- Equality
- Security
- Freedom
- Education

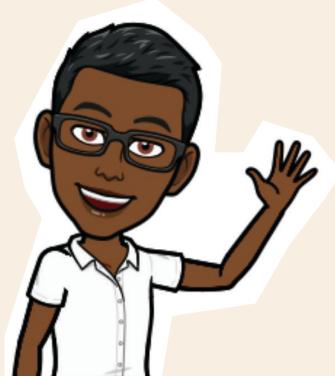

The General Assembly proclaims this Universal declaration of Human Rights as a common standard of achievement for all peoples in all nations....every individual shall strive by teaching and education to promote respect for these rights and freedoms.....

Article 1: All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights; they are endowed with reason and conscience and should act towards one another in as spirit of brotherhood.

- * After reading and understanding this preamble, ask the law teacher or the history teacher about our national constitution.
- * Work with one of them or read some parts of it. Jot down some of your ideas about human rights.

Choosing the countryside to live

Hi guys! One of the things I love is to be in contact with nature. Let me ask you some questions:

Do you like living in the city?

Would you like to live in the countryside?

Do you know somebody who lives in the countryside?

How different is everyday life there?

Where do people from the countryside buy milk?
Where do you buy milk?

- ✿ Nico wants to introduce you to Mario. He is a “payador” who decided to move to the countryside. He loves living there. Read his story.

“My name is Mario. I am 47 years old. I was born in Azotea de Vera, a rural area in Soriano. I was born in a big family and we lived in a beautiful farm close to the Vera stream.

My grandma was Josefa and she was a telephone operator for the national telephone company. There were not cellphones at that time. People called her and she transferred the call to the right client. On the weekends, we usually got together. All together, we were more than 50 people including cousins, aunties, uncles and friends who were like family. Barbecues were huge and the older people always prepared them while we played football, rode a horse or just played the accordion or the guitar.

I have always loved to play the guitar and I love to create my own lyrics. In the countryside this is called “payada”. I am a “payador” and I share the rural customs, the rural clothing and the rural spirit everywhere. I usually go to rodeos and I sing in there. In Soriano, rodeos are pretty popular and it is nationwide famous our rodeo on Labor Day in Palmitas. Look for information and I am sure you will go next year.”

- ✿ Mario does a lot of activities in the countryside. Take a look at the activities he does. Draw each activity he does.

1. Every day, he rides his horse Brownie. He rides on horseback everywhere.
2. In the morning, he usually milks the cow. He has only one cow, Margarita. He uses the milk to feed the pigs, prepare dairy products and just drink.
3. When he gets home after work he drinks mate. He usually has some tortas fritas with mate.
4. In the evening, he usually plays the guitar next to the fire.
5. On the weekends, he does one of his favorite activities. He prepares homemade caramel and cheese with the milk he gets from Margarita.

- * These are some other activities that Mario does in his free time. Write a sentence about each picture.

E.g. Taba is a traditional game that people from the countryside play. The taba is made from cow bones. Children play the taba for fun.

Did you know?

Playing the Taba used to be very common. People used to gamble with this activity. For this reason, gambling with the taba is now prohibited by the law.

Project 1 The Healing Wall

Prepare a wall to share your feelings. It is common that teenagers suffer from the pressure of mistreatment while they go to high school. This is called bullying. The person who oppresses others is called a bully. Sometimes those feelings can be expressed and students are able to look for help. In other situations, teens can have trouble sharing their problems with adults in the school.

In this place you will be able to share any negative experiences that you went through. You can express your feelings about experiences in which you have suffered by being mistreated by other people. You can also share any experiences other people have had.

Put your paper on the wall anonymously. After a couple of days, any student can respond by giving a short answer, a piece of advice, or support to the other classmate. All the comments should be written in a respectful way.

Project 2 Switcheroo

- Get in groups of 5 or 6 people and sit in a circle.
- Write a problem or difficult situation you are going through on a piece of paper.
- Fold the paper so one of your classmates can just see the problem.
- Pass the paper onto the classmate on your right. You will also receive the paper from your classmate on your left.
- Read the paper you receive.
- Each of you has a minute to write a solution to the problem that was passed to you.

- Write a possible solution in a sentence.
- After a minute pass the paper onto your right.
- Read the paper you receive.
- Write a one-sentence solution to that problem.
- Continue until you get your own paper.
- Read the solutions of your classmates and thank them for their support.
- Now, you have 5 solutions to your problem or difficult situation.

#livingUruguay NEWS

Emanuel Olivera: “You need passion, perseverance and determination to succeed”

Interviewer: You said you started playing the violin at the age of 6. Was it difficult?

Emanuel: Not really. I was 6 and I wanted to play any instrument. I was not conscious about its difficulty.

Interviewer: Why did you start?

Emanuel: I started at the age of 6. My father decided to take me off from a soccer team and I decided to start playing the violin. My mom enrolled me in the symphonic orchestra. I played the clarinet but I had to change instrument and I started playing the violin. There were many people playing it.

Interviewer: So there were a lot of people playing it.

Emanuel: Yes. I felt really comfortable playing it. I will not give up playing the violin when I grow up.

Interviewer: And do you admire any violinist?

Emanuel: Yes. I admire Lalo Alonso. I watch videos of him with my father. He inspired me to play in this way, joining songs and moving on stage.

Interviewer: Is it true that the violin is an intuitive instrument? You have to learn where to put your fingers in order to hit a note...

Emanuel: I don't see it this way, probably because I haven't played another instrument. But after playing the violin for some time you remember where to put your fingers to hit the note and it is long-life knowledge.

Interviewer: How long do you rehearse every day?

Emanuel: It depends on the day, but I usually rehearse for half an hour a day. I also rehearse 8 hours per week with the orchestra.

Interviewer: What do you do in your free time?

Emanuel: I like social media. When I am in social media I love sports. I watch and read about sports. I prefer basketball over soccer. Soccer does not motivate me much. I also like boxing.

Interviewer: So you are interested in sports...

Emanuel: Now I am also interested in competitions and I watch a lot of contestants on the Internet. I also like to watch videos of music, music of different genres.

Interviewer: OK. And talking about music genres, you include several genres in your presentations. Who makes the selection?

Emanuel: The way I link the different songs we plan it among the four of us. We listen to music and when we like some songs we label them and then we give them an order. This takes several hours.

Interviewer: What changed after you took part in the Talent show?

Emanuel: the impact on people...many people send me messages and I don't know them. I think that as a person I have not changed. People know me more. For the finals I have the support of the people. I have to get to the people to feel supported.

Interviewer: Are you conscious about the impact your audition produced on other people in Uruguay and outside of Uruguay?

Emanuel: Well, I don't know. Many people have contacted me. There are some things that I haven't watched yet but I can feel the love of the people

You wouldn't believe it was a Uruguayan who was responsible for the trauma we all experienced when Pluto was reclassified as a dwarf planet. A number of events and discoveries led to a new definition of the term "planet," which Pluto unfortunately didn't fulfill.

At the end of the 1950s there was an international race to become the first country to perform a successful pacemaker implant on a human being. Doctors Orestes Fiandra and Roberto Rubio accomplished this remarkable feat in Uruguay in 1960. Fiandra went on to found a pacemaker manufacturing company to continue developing the device and it is still open to this day.

In 1924, at the Football Olympic Games, Uruguay beat Switzerland 3–0 securing both the gold medal and the world title. At the end of the game, as the audience cheered, the players decided to do a lap of the field waving in appreciation. That was the beginning of what is now known in Spanish as the vuelta olímpica or "olympic round," where players go around the field celebrating, waving to the audience, and displaying their trophies after winning an important competition.

Vintage boxing gloves used to be designed with the thumb separate from the rest of the fingers, similar to the design of mittens. This was dangerous to both boxers because they could easily break their thumbs or accidentally poke out one another's eyes. In 1981, the Uruguayan José Laurino invented the boxing gloves we know today, with the thumb tucked safely away.

The soapy water spray we use to clean our windshield from the inside of the car was invented in 1937 by Uruguayan Hector Suppici, a race car driver who needed to keep his windshield clear of mud during races.

The first ever FIFA World Cup was held in Uruguay back in 1930. For the occasion, Uruguay built the Estadio Centenario which happened to bring luck to the national team since they won the championship that year. The building is still the most important stadium in the country and many crucial matches are played there.

Uruguayan radiologist, Raul Leborgne was involved in the initial steps towards what we know today as the mammography examination. In 1946 he developed the use of radiology to invent a method of differentiating between benign and malignant microcalcifications. This advancement was then used to create the mammography examination.

The concept of taking medical care professionals to their patients in an ambulance equipped with everything necessary to perform pre-hospital procedures was invented by Uruguayan doctors José Terra, Luis Martino and Mario Della Cella in 1979. The invention, which was financed by users, spread successfully to the rest of the world, benefiting patients, doctors, and hospitals alike. These units work as a filter for patients who don't have urgent need of hospital care.

Uruguayans are the proud creators of chef Anthony Bourdain's favorite sandwich! This massive steak sandwich is world famous and a big reason why some visit Uruguay. The traditional "Chivito" is made with grilled bread, mayonnaise, a thin steak, tomato, lettuce, ham, pancetta, mozzarella, onions, green olives, and egg. On top of that, it can also include hearts of palm, red peppers, pickled vegetables, mushrooms, and other ingredients depending on the restaurant. And if that wasn't enough, it usually comes with french fries and Russian salad (potato, peas, and carrots with mayonnaise).

Let's sing!

- Look at the picture of Freddie. He has an imprinted T-shirt. There is a famous singer on it. Do you know who he is? Do you know what his name is? If you don't know, ask any member of your family.

My parents are fans of this singer and I was named after him. I listen to his music all the time. This is my fav song. Let's listen to it and write each word of the name in the boxes.

e.g. I would dedicate this song to my grandmother because she is my inspiration.

- Who would you dedicate this song to? Why?

I would like to dedicate this song to because

- * Let's read the lyrics of the song and circle the words that refer to how Freddie Mercury felt about that person.

Go back to the lyrics and put a (+) if the feeling is positive and a (-) if the feeling is negative.

How positive/negative is each feeling? Look at the scale.

- * Freddie Mercury was a very influential singer. Search the Internet and find information about him. With the information complete the following factfile

If possible, paste a picture of that person, the lyrics of the song and the sentence why you dedicate the song to that person.

Uruguayan women in history

- * I watched a documentary about Uruguayan women who did a lot for the country.
- * Look at this person; do you know who she is? I didn't!

One building at Pereira Rossell has her name, honoring her hard work.

- * Her name is Paulina Luisi. Read about her

One prominent Uruguayan woman is Paulina Luisi. Luisi was a leader of the feminist movement in the country of Uruguay. She was a very intelligent and brave woman. She was born in Argentina in 1875. Her mother, Maria Teresa Josefina Janicki was of Polish descent and her father, Angel Luisi came from an Italian ancestry. The couple moved to Uruguay in 1878.

In 1909, she became the first woman in the country to obtain a medical degree and was highly respected. She was the first female physician and surgeon that graduated from the Medicine School of the Universidad de la República (University of Uruguay, 1908). Her sister, Clotilde Luisi, was the first Uruguayan woman to study at the Faculty of Law of the University of the Republic.

Paulina represented Uruguay in international women's conferences and traveled throughout Europe. In 1919, she started the force for women's rights in Uruguay. By 1922, the Pan-American Conference of Women named Paulina Luisi an honorary vice president of the meeting and she continued to be an activist until Uruguay gave women the right to vote.

She was not only a physician but also a teacher and the primary editor of the magazine Acción Femenina. She died in 1950 at the age of 75 years old.

Now, watch the trailer of Chris' favorite movie “Girlfight” and tick the words from the previous activity that you identify in the video.

These are some comments taken from the trailer; do you think that they are positive or negative? Match them to their corresponding meaning.

1. “You are worthless”
2. “You are nothing but trouble”
3. “You will prove them wrong”

- a. You will succeed.
- b. You have no value.
- c. You only bring problems.

Is it common for talented people (sportspeople, singers, musicians) to receive comments like that at the beginning of their careers? Can you mention some examples of famous people that had difficulties at the beginning? Search in the Internet to answer these questions.

Why do you think a woman would like to become a boxer?

What difficulties do you think Chris faced to become a boxer?

Match the questions Lua asked her to Chris' answers.

1. What is your full name? When and where were you born? d
2. Boxing has mainly been considered a sport for men. How did you get interested in it?
3. When did you start practicing boxing?
4. Do you think there are more opportunities for women that like boxing than in the past?
5. In your opinion, what are the benefits of boxing?
6. What difficulties did you have at the beginning?
7. Who inspired you to achieve your dream?
8. What is your most memorable fight? Why?

My family has always supported me and that is fundamental to pursue my dream. I was also inspired by women around the world who had accomplished what I wanted like Marcela Acuña from Argentina and Cecilia Braekhus from Norway.

b

Yes, I definitely believe there has been some progress. When I started, women were not accepted in gymnasiums in Montevideo. It was hard for me to convince a boxing coach to train me. Finally I did it. Nowadays, there are many women boxing as amateurs or professionals.

d

My full name is Christian Ariadna Namús Corrales, but people call me 'Chris' for short. I was born on October 3rd, 1987 in Montevideo.

e

My fight against Cecilia Braekhus is the most memorable one because she is my idol and I could fight her. I didn't win the fight but my performance was so good that she called me to train with her in different parts of the world.

h

I started getting interested in boxing because of a movie. Even though I had practiced martial arts since I was 6, I had never thought about boxing. At 16 I wasn't doing any sport. I watched a movie called "Girlfight" where a woman was boxing. That was the moment when I realized I wanted to practice that sport.

c

The first difficulty was the fact that women were not accepted in gyms. After solving this problem I have always been one more of the team for coaches and peers. Another difficulty we are still trying to solve is that women who are boxers earn much less than men doing the same job.

f

I started practicing at 16. At 18 I had my first and only amateur fight. When I was 19 I debuted as a professional boxer.

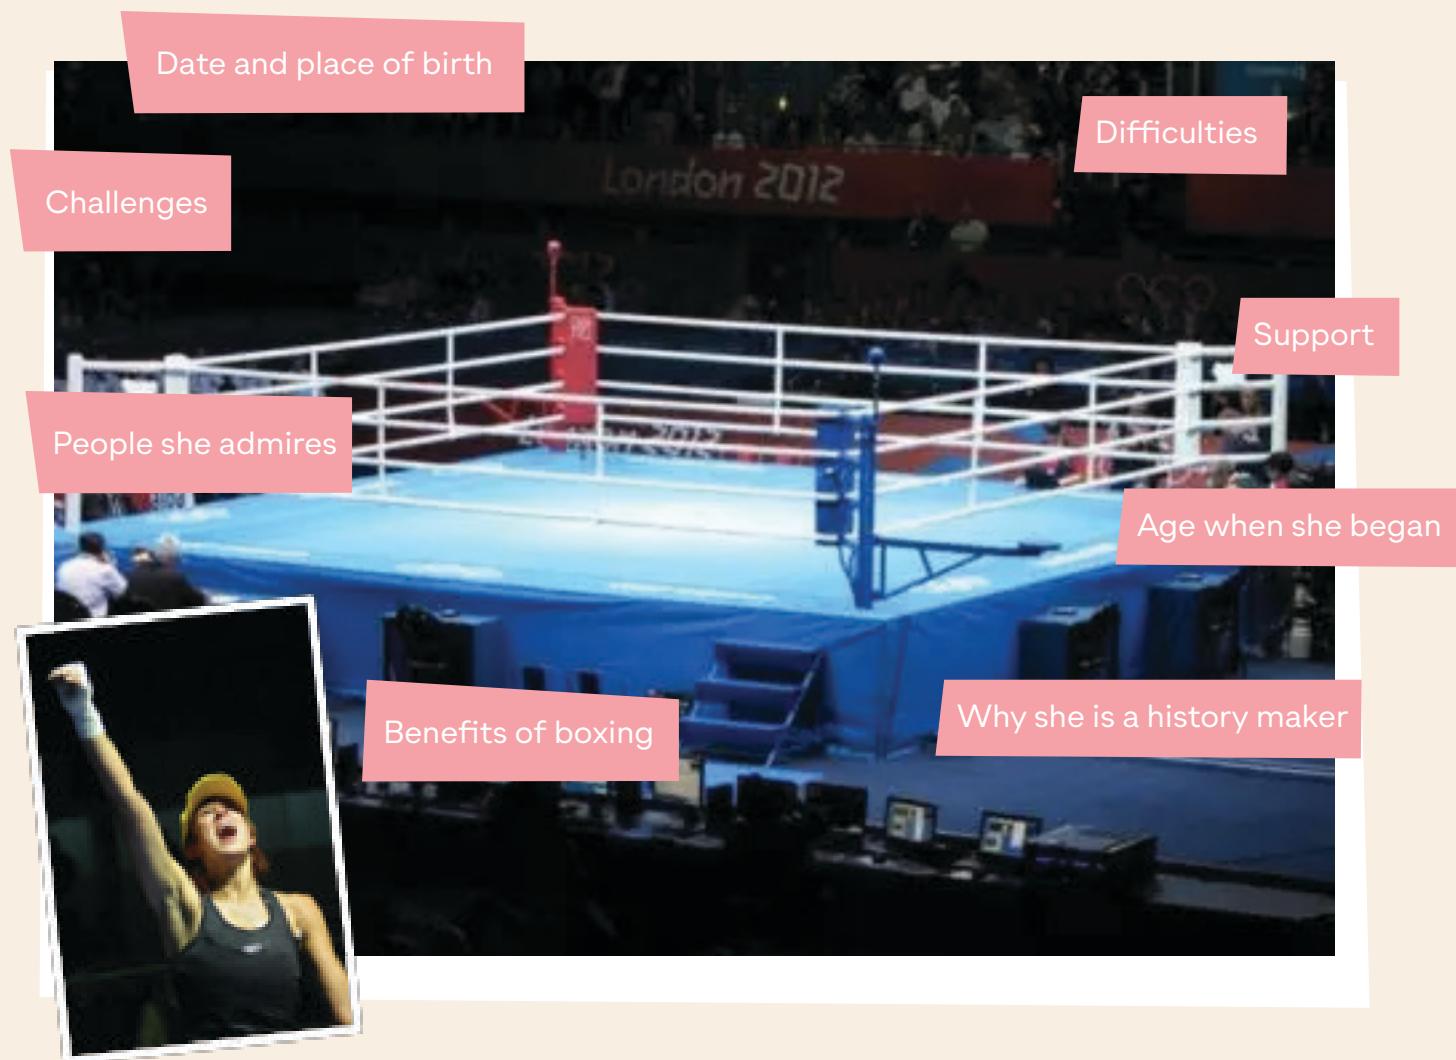

g

This sport is my life, my passion and it became my job. It is a very complete sport, you work all your body and it reinforces values like companionship and loyalty. I made a lot of friends while training. It gives me values, learning, experiences, health and many other things.

- * Read the answers again and match one of the comments from the trailer of the movie Girlfight from previous activities with one of Chris' answers. The comments were:

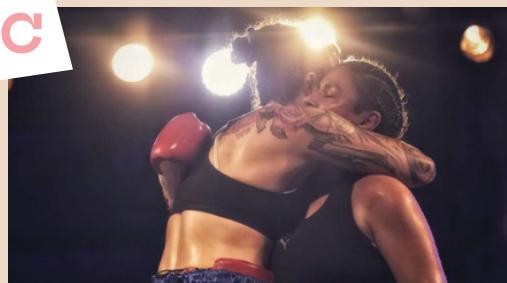

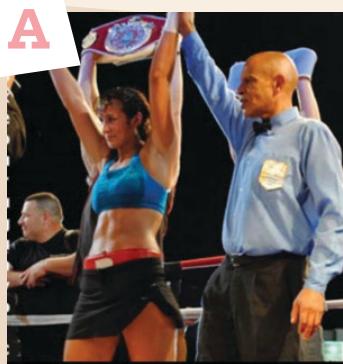

1. "You are worthless"
2. "You are nothing but trouble"
3. "You will prove them wrong"

Lua is creating a poster with the information from the interview. She will present about Chris Namús to her classmates. Help her to complete it.

What is Chris doing in the pictures? Match the pictures with the corresponding activities.

1. She is greeting her opponent.
2. She is boxing.
3. She is punching her opponent.
4. She is celebrating her victory.
5. She is hugging her opponent.
6. She is smiling and showing her muscles.

This is a mural of Chris Namús created by the artist José Gallino. Do you like it? Create a work of art representing another important woman in history; you may want to work with your art teacher.

La Higuera - Juana de Ibarbourou

Porque es áspera y fea, porque todas sus ramas son grises, yo le tengo piedad a la higuera.

En mi quinta hay cien árboles bellos, ciruelos redondos,
limoneros rectos
y naranjos de brotes lustrosos.

En las primaveras, todos ellos se cubren de flores en torno a la higuera.

Y la pobre parece tan triste con sus gajos torcidos que nunca de apretados capullos se viste...

Por eso,
cada vez que yo paso a su lado, digo, procurando
hacer dulce y alegre mi acento:
«Es la higuera el más bello de los árboles todos del huerto»
Si ella escucha,
si comprende el idioma en que hablo, ¡qué dulzura tan honda hará nido en su alma sensible de árbol!
Y tal vez, a la noche, cuando el viento abanique su copa, embriagada de gozo le cuente:
¡Hoy a mí me dijeron hermosa!

A la izquierda del roble - Mario Benedetti .

No sé si alguna vez les ha pasado a ustedes pero el Jardín Botánico es un parque dormido en el que uno puede sentirse árbol o próximo siempre y cuando se cumpla un requisito previo.

Que la ciudad exista tranquilamente lejos.

El secreto es apoyarse digamos en un tronco y oír a través del aire que admite ruidos muertos cómo en Millán y Reyes galopan los tranvías.

No sé si alguna vez les ha pasado a ustedes pero el Jardín Botánico siempre ha tenido una agradable propensión a los sueños a que los insectos suban por las piernas y la melancolía baje por los brazos hasta que uno cierra los puños y la atrapa.

Después de todo el secreto es mirar hacia arriba y ver cómo las nubes se disputan las copas y ver cómo los nidos se disputan los pájaros.

No sé si alguna vez les ha pasado a ustedes ah pero las parejas que huyen al Botánico ya desciendan de un taxi o bajen de una nube hablan por lo común de temas importantes y se miran fanáticamente a los ojos como si el amor fuera un brevísimos túnel y ellos se contemplaran por dentro de ese amor.

Aquellos dos por ejemplo a la izquierda del roble
(también podría llamarlo almendro o araucaria gracias a mis lagunas sobre Pan y Linneo) hablan y por lo visto las palabras se quedan conmovidas a mirarlos ya que a mí no me llegan ni siquiera los ecos

No sé si alguna vez les ha pasado a ustedes pero es lindísimo imaginar qué dicen sobre todo si él muerde una ramita y ella deja un zapato sobre el césped sobre todo si él tiene los huesos tristes.

y ella quiere sonreír pero no puede.

Para mí que el muchacho está diciendo lo que se dice a veces en el Jardín Botánico

No sé si alguna vez les ha pasado a ustedes pero puedo ocurrir que de pronto uno advierta que en realidad se trata de algo más desolado uno de esos amores de tántalo y azar que Dios no admite porque tiene celos

Fíjense que él acusa con ternura y ella se apoya contra la corteza fíjense que él va tildando recuerdos y ella se consterná misteriosamente.

Para mí que el muchacho está diciendo lo que se dice a veces en el Jardín Botánico

No sé si alguna vez les ha pasado a ustedes pero el Jardín Botánico es un parque dormido que sólo despierta con la lluvia.

Ahora la última nube a resuelto quedarse y nos está mojando como alegres mendigos.

El secreto está en correr con precauciones a fin de no matar ningún escarabajo y no pisar los hongos que aprovechan para nadar desesperadamente.

Sin prevenciones me doy vuelta y siguen aquellos dos a la izquierda del roble eternos y escondidos en la lluvia diciéndose quién sabe qué silencios.

No sé si alguna vez les ha pasado a ustedes pero cuando la lluvia cae sobre el Botánico aquí se quedan sólo los fantasmas. Ustedes pueden irse. Yo me quedo.

Let's focus on two poems about nature from Uruguayan poets.

Name of the poem

Poet's name

Main content

Key words

Author's feelings

Your feelings

Say words related to nature. You can use the poems to inspire you. Write your words down and the ones your classmates say, too. At the end of the activity you should have at least 10 words.

For example:

peace - childhood - freedom - deep - path - animals - hope – way out – fresh air - sports - miracle - friendship

With the list of words you have from this class write a poem. Just rearrange the words and add any necessary one.

Here are 4 examples from Lua, Nico and Emma's friends. Write your poems in a book and share it with all the school.

Let's join and share the poems!

There was a path full of animals,
it was just my way-out.

There was hope, peace and freedom, just what a child would want.

Enjoying fresh air, sports and friends, it was my own deep miracle that I did never share.

By Verónica Velázquez

Peace, freedom, fresh air
It's what I care.

When I was in deep sorrow friendship and animals were a wonderful miracle that gave me hope and guided my path in my magical childhood.

By Jimena Martínez

Oh my childhood..
peace, hope and freedom,
a path, a way out in the woods fresh air sports...my kingdom.

A deep breath of fresh air a escape, a sport, a miracle.
The animals happy everywhere a miracle, a spectacle.

thanks for the memory thanks for the path thanks for the freedom thanks for the peace.

By Aldo Rodríguez

Who said miracles are not real?
Just think of friendship, your childhood, or the fresh air.

Who said peace is not possible to achieve?
Just notice how animals live in freedom.
Who said there's no hope?
Just feel the adrenaline of playing a sport, or experiencing real friendship with those around you.

There's always a way-out.
There's always a path.

By Gustavo Pereira

You can use the set of rubrics for writing activities at the end of this book.

Project 1

A resilient person I know. Write about a person that you know. It could be a famous person or someone from everyday life (for example, you would describe my grandma). Use the KLW chart to organize your writing. Include the things you know about the person, and the things you want to know. Talk to the person or to people who can give you information about the person to complete that chart. If you want, include a picture of the person or/and any quote or/and anecdote about him/her. The teacher organizes the resilience corner with all these stories.

Project 2

The teacher works with the film “The boy who harnessed the wind”. After watching the trailer or reading the plot, find an existing problem or issue from your neighborhood or community. Think of ways of solving it. Record a video, make a poster or write a message to share your ideas.

Project 3

Let's act it out. Travis Price is Lua's mom's friend. As part of his literary work he translated extracts from Horacio Quiroga's plays. He shares the translation with you. Work with the script in class and record a video acting the play.

Las Obras de Quiroga

Las Obras de Quiroga

A La Deriva – Part 1

Paulino, Dorotea, Narrator

[Paulino entra a los tumbos, arrastrando su pierna.]

Paulino: Dorotea! Get me caña! (Dorotea! Dame caña!)

[Su mujer corrió con un vaso lleno, que el hombre sorbió en tres tragos.]

Paulino: I asked you for caña, not water! Get me caña! (¡Te pedí caña, no agua!)
¡Dame caña!)

Dorotea: But it is caña, Paulino! (¡Pero es caña, Paulino!)

Paulino: No, you gave me water. I told you caña! (¡No, me diste agua! ¡Caña, te digo!)

[La mujer corrió otra vez, volviendo con la damajuana. El hombre tragó uno tras otro dos vasos, pero no sintió nada en la garganta.]

Paulino: [mirando su pie, murmurando] This is getting bad. (Bueno; esto se pone feo)

Narrator: Los dolores fulgurantes se sucedían en continuos relampagueos, y llegaban ahora a la ingle. La atroz sequedad de garganta que el aliento parecía caldear más, aumentaba a la par.

[Paulino vomita]

Narrator: Pero él no quería morir. Descendiendo hasta la costa subió a su canoa. Sentóse en la popa y comenzó a palear hasta el centro del Paraná. Allí la corriente del río, que en las inmediaciones del Iguazú corre seis millas, lo llevaría antes de cinco horas a Tacurú-Pucú.

Las Obras de Quiroga

La Gallina Degollada – Part 1

Mazzini, Berta, Narrator, Bertita, 4 Idiots

Narrator: Todo el día, sentados en el patio en un banco, estaban los cuatro hijos idiotas del matrimonio Mazzini-Ferraz. Tenían la lengua entre los labios, los ojos estúpidos, y volvían la cabeza con la boca abierta. Al declinar del sol, los idiotas tenían fiesta. Al fin se reían estrepitosamente, congestionados por la misma hilaridad ansiosa, mirando el sol con alegría bestial, como si fuera comida.

[Entran Mazzini y Berta, mirando a los idiotas, y manteniendo una distancia desde ellos.]

Mazzini: [Sospichoso] You can't think it's my fault, right? (¿Creo que no vas a decir que yo tenga la culpa, no?)

Berta: Oh, no! Nor mine, I imagine...[murmurando]

Well that was all I needed. *(¡Ah, no! pero yo tampoco, supongo!...
¡No faltaba más!)*

Mazzini: What was all you needed? (¿Qué no faltaba más?)

Berta: If anyone is to blame, it's not me.

That's what I wanted to say. *(¡Que si alguien tiene la culpa, no soy yo!
Eso es lo que te quería decir.)*

[Los dos se miran un momento, con odio.]

Mazzini: Let's drop it. (¡Dejemos!)

Berta: [Sarcástico] Whatever you say. (A las órdenes.)

Narrator: Este fué el primer choque y le sucedieron otros. Pero en las inevitables reconciliaciones, sus almas se unían con doble arrebato y locura por otro hijo. Nació así una niña. Vivieron dos años con la angustia a flor de alma, esperando siempre que ella también se volviera otra idiota. Nada pasó, sin embargo, y los padres pusieron en ella toda su complacencia, que la pequeña llevaba a los más extremos límites del mimo y la mala crianza.

Si aún en los últimos tiempos Berta y Mazzini cuidaban siempre de sus hijos, al nacer ellos se olvidaron casi del todo de los otros. Su solo recuerdo los horrorizaba, como algo atroz que los hubieran obligado a cometer.

Las Obras de Quiroga

La Gallina Degollada – Part 1

Mazzini, Berta, Narrator, Bertita, 4 Idiots

Narrator; Un día, algo se interrumpió a los idiotas en el banco. Su hermana, cansada de cinco horas paternales, quería observar por su cuenta. Detenida al pie del cerco, miraba pensativa la cresta.

[La hermana intenta de trepar arriba del pared. Recurre entonces a un cajón de kerosene, y su instinto topográfico le hace colocar vertical el mueble, con lo cual triunfa.]

El Almojadon De Pluma: Parts 1 & 2

Jordan, Doctor, Alicia, Servant, Narrator

Narrator; Los médicos volvieron inútilmente. Había allí delante de ellos una vida que se acababa, desangrándose día a día, hora a hora, sin saber absolutamente cómo. En la última consulta Alicia yacía en estupor mientras ellos la pulsaban, pasándose de uno a otro la muñeca inerte. La observaron largo rato en silencio y pasaron al comedor.

Doctor: Look, it's a serious case. There's little that we can do. (Pst...Es un caso serio. Poco hay que hacer...)

Jordán: [triste] That's all I need!

(¡Sólo eso me faltaba!)

Narrator: Durante el día no avanzaba su enfermedad, pero cada mañana amanecía lívida, en síncope casi. Parecía que únicamente de noche se le fuera la vida en nuevas olas de sangre. Desde el tercer día, apenas podía mover la cabeza.

[La sirvienta entra y le acomoda las sábanas a Alicia.]

Alicia: No, not now. I'm too weak for you to even move my pillow.

(Ahora no. Soy demasiado débil aún para arreglar el almohadón.)

[La sirvienta sale.]

Narrator: Sus terrores crepusculares avanzaron en forma de monstruos que se arrastraban hasta la cama y trepaban dificultosamente por la colcha.

[Se apagan las luces. Se encienden y Alicia y el doctor no están. Solo Jordan y la sirvienta.]

Part 2:Narrator; Murió, por fin

[La sirvienta, que entró después a deshacer la cama, sola ya, miró un rato extrañada el almohadón.]

Servant: Sir, there are marks on this pillow that look like blood.

(Señor...En el almohadón hay manchas que parecen de sangre.)

[Jordán se acerca rápidamente y se dobló a su vez.]

Servant: They look like...bites.

(Parecen picaduras.)

Jordán: Lift it into the light

(Levántelo a la luz)

[La sirvienta lo levantó, pero en seguida lo dejó caer, y se quedó mirando a aquél, lívida y temblando.]

Jordán: What's wrong?

(¿Qué hay?)

Servant: It's really heavy

(Pesa mucho)

[La sirvienta lo levantó, pero en seguida lo dejó caer, y se quedó mirando a aquél, lívida y temblando.]

La Gallina Degollada – Part 2Mazzini, Berta, Narrator, Bertita, 4 Idiots

[Los cuatro idiotas, la mirada indiferente. Pero la mirada de los idiotas se había animado. Lentamente avanzaron hacia el cerco.]

Bertita: Get away from me! Get off of me!

(¡Soltáme! ¡dejáme!)

Bertita: Mom! Oh, Mom! Mom, Dad!

(¡Mamá! ¡Ay, mamá! ¡Mamá, papá!)

[Los idiotas le agarran y sus gritos continúan hasta las luces apagan.]

A La Deriva – Part 2Paulino, Narrator

Narrator; El sol había caído ya cuando el hombre, semi-tendido en el fondo de la canoa, tuvo un violento escalofrío. Y de pronto, con asombro, enderezó pesadamente la cabeza: se sentía mejor. La pierna le dolía apenas, la sed disminuía, y su pecho, libre ya, se abría en lenta inspiración.

[Paulino se reacomoda en la canoa.]

Narrator; El bienestar avanzaba, y con él una somnolencia llena de recuerdos. No sentía ya nada ni en la pierna ni en el vientre. ¿Viviría aún su compadre Gaona en Tacurú-Pucú? Acaso viera también a su ex-patrón míster Dougald, y al recibidor del obraje.

Paulino: How long has it been since I've seen my old boss. Dougald?

[Paulino se echa otra vez.]

Paulino: What day was it? Friday? No.

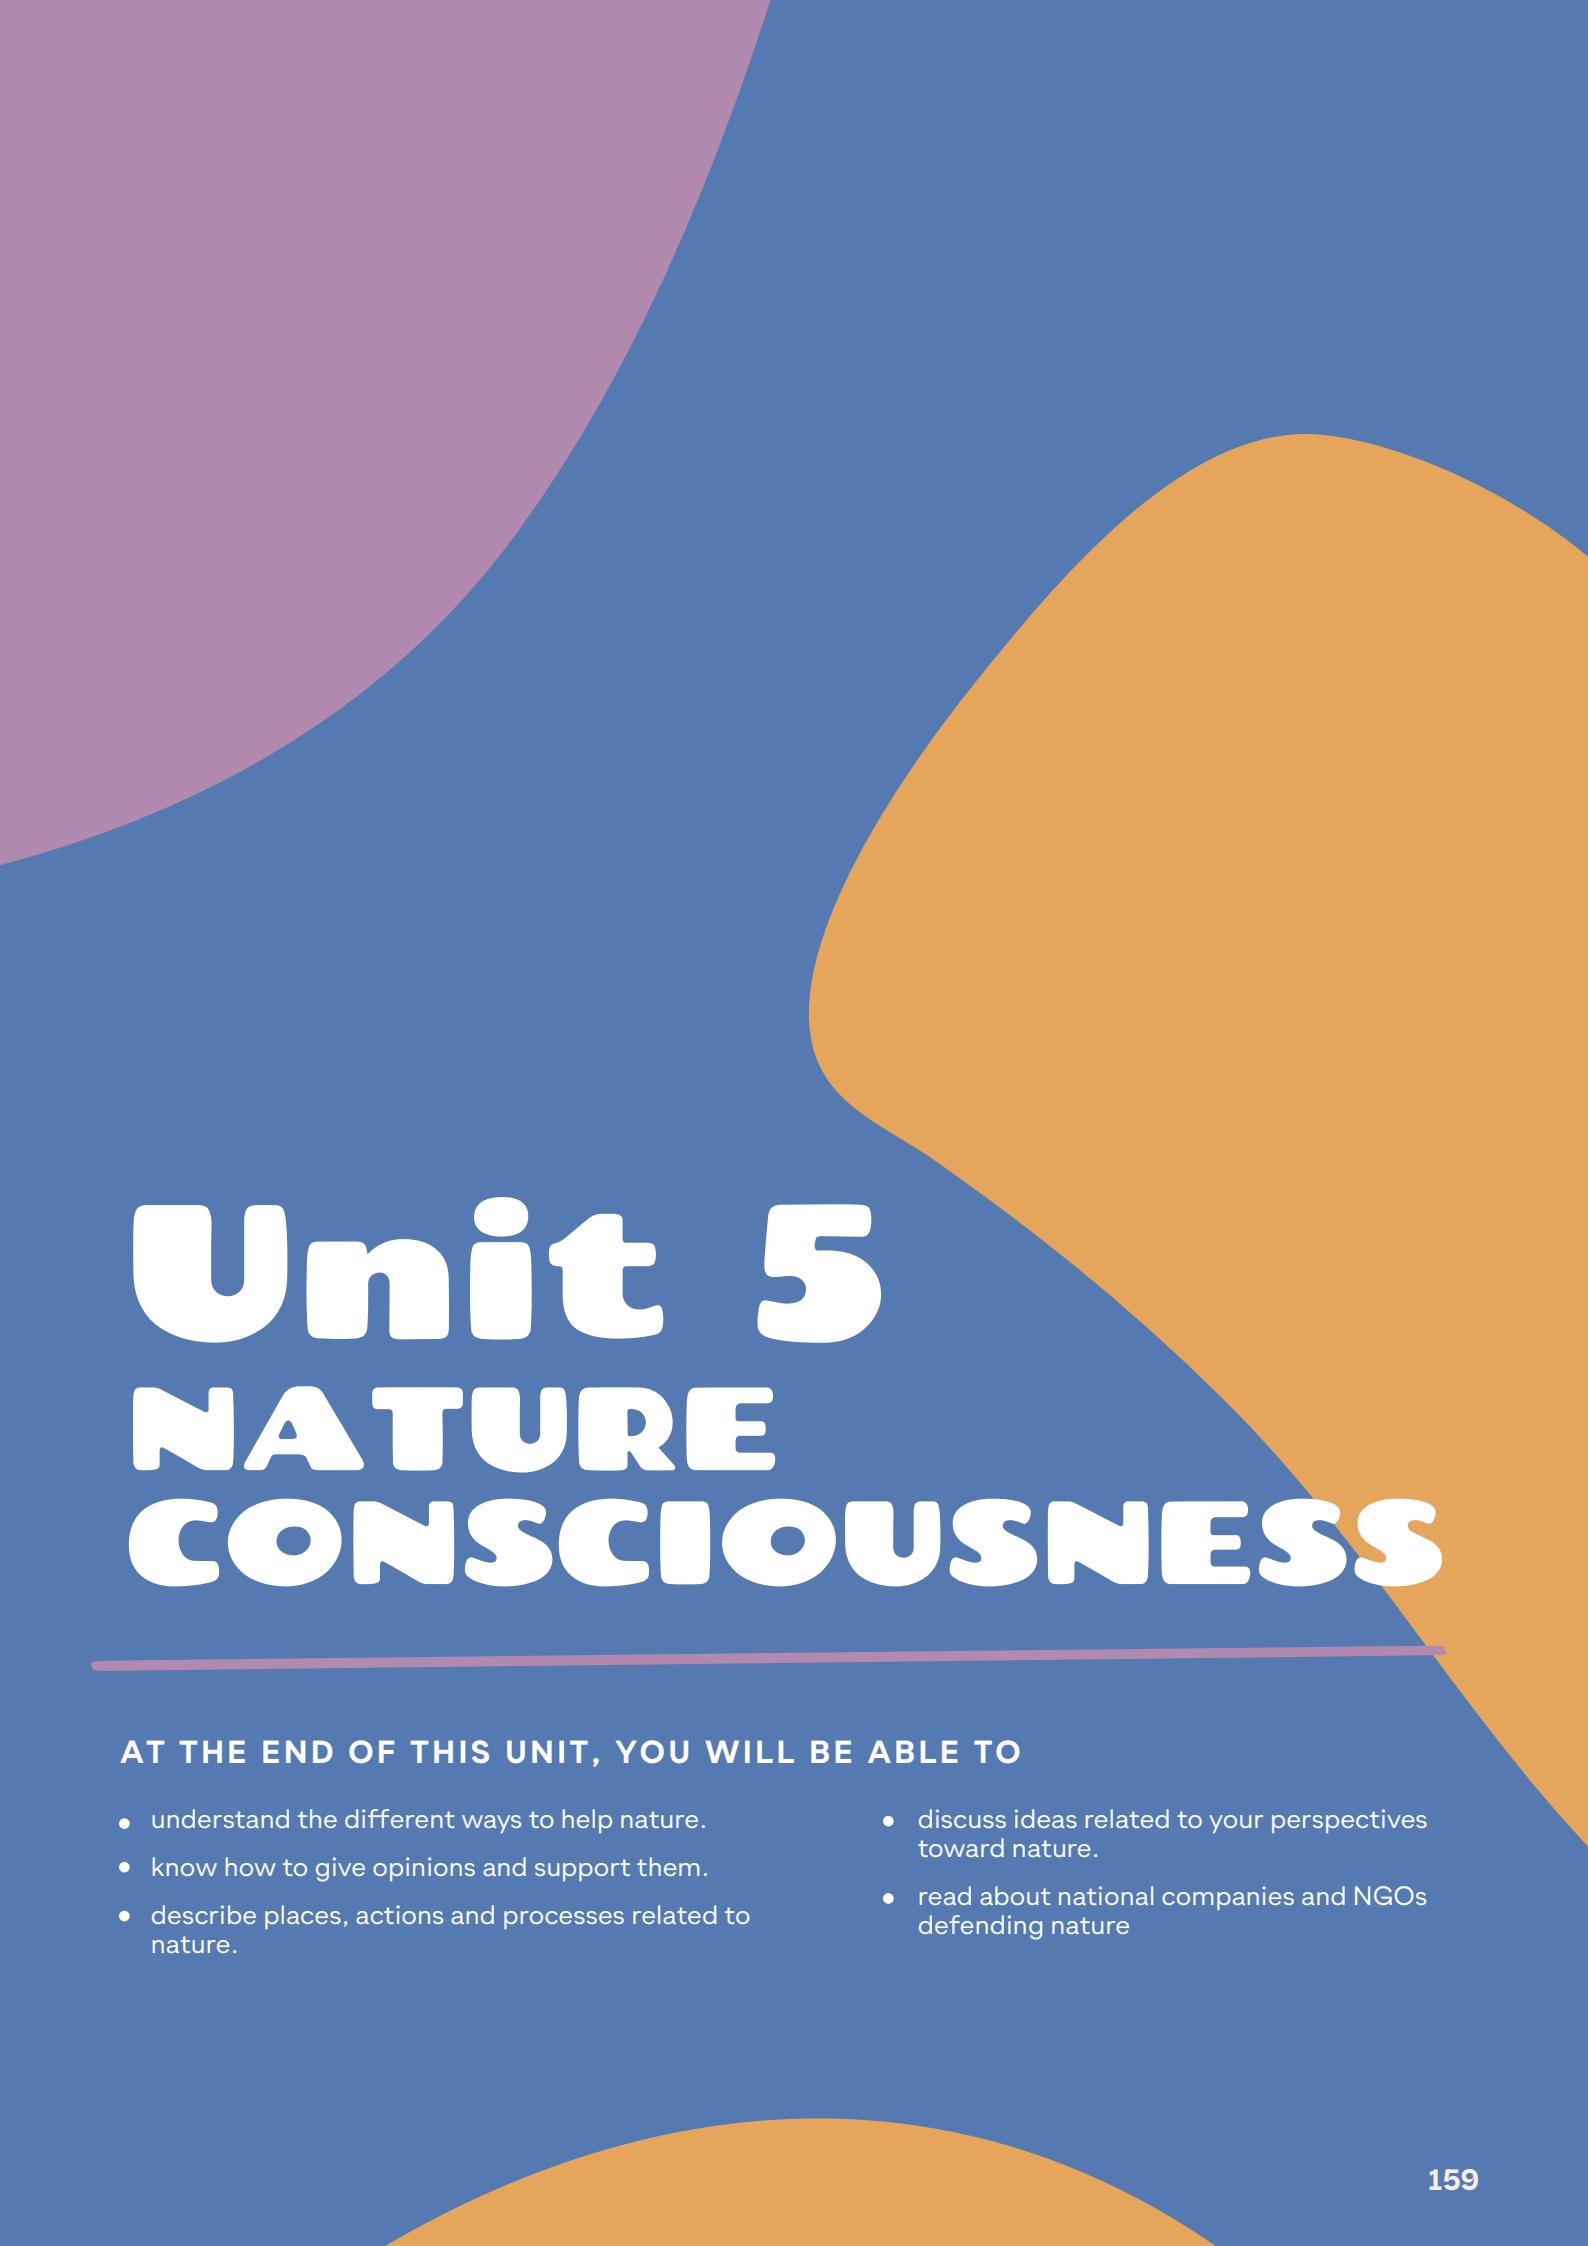

(Cuál día fue? Viernes? No.)

[Paulino estiró lentamente los dedos de la mano]

Paulino: Thursday. Thursday.

(Jueves.)

[Muere.]

- describe places, actions and processes related to nature.
- discuss ideas related to your perspectives toward nature.
- read about national companies and NGOs defending nature

- ✿ Global warming is a silent problem.
Let's see how aware you are about the topic.

- ✿ Find keywords related to global warming.
 - ✿ These are newspaper headlines about global warming. Read them and say whether they are true or false. When you finish, google for information and check your answers.
 - a Global warming is caused only by natural factors.
 - b Global warming is affecting only some countries in some areas of the world.
 - c The United States is the country with the highest amount of carbon monoxide in the world.
 - d It takes 100 years for carbon dioxide to disperse in the atmosphere.
 - e The Arctic animals that many scientists consider most vulnerable to extinction due to global warming are Polar bears.

What causes global warming? What are the main effects of it?

- * Read again and complete a multi-flow thinking map to set the causes and the effects of global warming.

- * Think of your communities and how these general ideas apply to them.

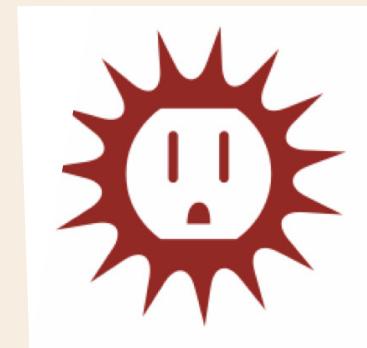

E.g. carbon monoxide. There are a lot of carbon monoxide emissions because there are a lot of cars in Montevideo. Most cars don't use eco fuel.

- * Think of other possible causes and effects that might exist in your communities to enrich the flow thinking map you have created.

Global warming is a problem that can be solved by becoming more aware of nature. Think of possible ways of addressing the issue.

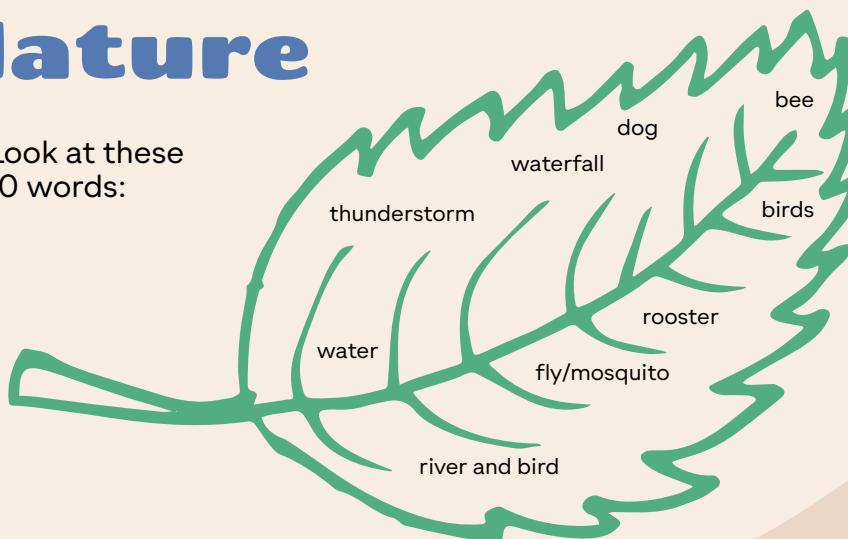

- * Write one possible solution to the topic on your notebooks.

For example: I think global warming can be solved if....

- * Look at these 10 words:

- * Choose three of them. Write them on the chart.

- * Listen to the recording and circle what you hear. For example, if you hear “water” and you wrote the word water in the chart, circle it.

When you circle the three words say “bingo”.

What do the things you hear have in common? The

What kind of biome is Uruguay a part of?

Uruguay is a part of the Temperate Grassland biome.

Temperate grasslands are a part of a larger biome grouping of grasslands that include tropical savannas. Both biomes are categorized based on grass but they also have so many differences.

1. Unlike savannas that sometimes have trees and shrubs scattered about an area, temperate grasslands don't have trees or scrubs.
2. Temperatures in temperate grasslands can vary dramatically and this can have a great impact on the growing plants and animals in their ecosystem.
3. Temperate grasslands tend to have less rainfall.

On the map above, Uruguay is located in the Temperate Grassland biome.

The Temperate grassland color on the map is yellow.

What are the seasons like?

Seasons depend on the location and if it is in the northern hemisphere or the southern hemisphere.

7 Natural Wonders of the World

Our planet is full of amazing and wonderful sights. These are some of the most famous.

1. The Grand Canyon is in the US in the state of Arizona. It is a very big hole in the ground with diverse beautiful colors. Created over 6 million years ago by the Colorado River, the canyon is over 277 miles long. The climate there is very dry.

2. The Great Barrier Reef, stretching over 1,600 miles, is the largest coral reef on Earth. It is located in the coral sea of the northeast coast of Queensland, Australia. The reef contains 2,900 individual reefs and 900 islands. It is the home of “Nemo”, the famous clownfish of the movie Finding Nemo. You can see it from space.

3. The Harbor of Rio de Janeiro is a fascinating natural landscape where the ocean meets the shore and the Sugarloaf mountain with the giant iconic statue named “Christ the Redeemer” at the top of Mount Corcovado. It is the largest bay in the world surrounded by high mountains.

4. Mount Everest is the highest mountain in the world. It is located in the Himalayas in Asia, the mountain range between Nepal and Tibet. Everest has claimed the lives of 210 people.

5. Aurora Borealis, also known as the polar lights is a display of natural lights in the sky, typically occurring in the Earth sky and better noticeable at night. They are caused by solar wind. They are also known as the northern lights or southern lights.

6. Paricutin Volcano, in Mexico is the only volcano whose birth in 1943 was seen and documented by humans. It is 424 meters tall. After its last eruption in 1952, it will never erupt again.

7. Victoria Falls, found in southern Africa between Zambia and Zimbabwe, is one of the largest falls in the world. It provides habitats for several unique species of plants and animals.

These are the seven natural wonders of the world, some of the most beautiful places, created by nature itself, thankfully unspoiled by man. They are breathtaking, magical and wonderful.

- * Emma, Nico, Lua, Freddie and Duma are talking about the wonders. Read the characteristics of the places they would like to visit and help them discover the perfect one for each of them.

Our friends
Preferences	Emma likes water and wants to go to Africa.	Nico likes diving and sea life.	Lua likes cold weather and enjoys night walks.	Freddie likes discovering wonders in South America especially with a wonderful view of the ocean.	Duma likes heights and climbing.
Wonder they should go to

Let's compare some wonders. Using these adjectives: high, large, long, beautiful, deep, good (for climbing), bad (for climbing), dangerous, dry, cold.

* Take a look at some examples:

Mount Everest is higher than Mount Aconcagua.

Mount Everest is better for climbing than Paricutin Volcano.

Climbing Mount Everest is more dangerous than visiting Sugarloaf Mountain.

The Grand Canyon is drier than Mount Everest.

Helping to protect wildlife

- * These are pictures of an animal.
Look at the pictures and discover what animal it is.
- * The pictures correspond to different parts of the body of the animal. Can you name them?

- * Share your ideas with a partner.

- * Listen to Lua, Emma, Nico, Duma and Freddie's former geography teacher talking about the topic and correct your answers.

- * Some tortoises and turtles are in danger of extinction. Karumbe is an NGO that protects turtles and tortoises in Uruguay and abroad.

- * Go to the Tortoise Classroom in the link: click here

- * Answer the following questions:

- 1 What does Karumbe do?
- 2 What type of professionals take part in Karumbe?
- 3 What are the objectives Karumbe has?

- * There are four types of turtles in Karumbe. What are they? Complete the chart.

Turtle 1

Turtle 4

- * Work in groups. Get in 8 groups. 2 groups choose one type of turtle. Go to Karumbe's website and find information about it. Use the Internet to add any other information you find.

- * Create a poster and name a spokesperson. Share your findings to the class.

Did you know?

The famous Greek playwright Aeschylus was killed when an eagle dropped a turtle on his head.

Let's learn how to recycle

Why is it a global problem?

- * A short history about trash. Match the description with the corresponding picture.

Trash always existed. Only cavemen didn't have a big problem with it because there was a lot of room for it.

Today trash is a big problem. There are more people and more different kinds of trash: cans, papers, bottles, clothes, cars, etc.

Every year each one of us throws away almost one ton of trash.

We have a problem with trash that cavemen never had. To get rid of it we tried.

...burning it. But burning trash can cause air pollution.

... throwing it in the ocean. But this pollutes water too.

... burying it. But there isn't enough empty land near cities.

In the past few years we have found a new way to solve the problem. It's called RECYCLING.

Recycling means reusing our trash instead of getting rid of it. By using the same materials again, we save our natural resources.

Adapted from: <https://en.islcollective.com/english-esl-worksheets/vocabulary/environment/very-short-history-trash/1025>

- * Read the text again and find:

Different types of trash

The reason why trash is a problem

Different ways of dealing with trash

Did you know?

The words rubbish, garbage, and trash are synonyms. The word rubbish is from British English and the words garbage and trash come from American English.

The Recycle Symbol-The three R's

Each of the three arrows in the Recycle Symbol can represent one step in a three-step process that forms the recycling loop.

Source: https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Reduce_Reuse_Recycle.jpg

- * Order the steps:

The recyclable materials are manufactured into new products.

People sell, buy and use the new products made from the recycled materials. The loop is now complete.

People collect recyclable materials and put them in the corresponding bin. Then the materials are taken to a local collection center. Some people clean and separate them to be reused.

Adapted from: <https://www.mtsu.edu/cee/3Rs.php>

Tips for students and schools:

Students, parents, and teachers can all make a difference in reducing waste at school. By practicing the "3 R's" of waste reduction—reduce, reuse, and recycle—we can all do our part.

* Choose the tips to be eco friendly.

- Before starting the new school year: reuse last-year's materials. / Buy new school materials.
- Buy a lot of plastic school objects. / Choose school materials made from recycled products.
- Throw away plastic bags and other packaging. / Save packaging, colored paper, egg cartons and other items for arts and crafts projects.
- Take care of pens and pencils; put them in your pencil case after class. / Let your pens and pencils on the floor and desks in the classroom.
- Buy new clothes all the time. / Try to recycle old clothing and do other useful stuff from them like bags.
- Donate clothing you do not wear anymore. / Throw away clothing you do not wear anymore.

Adapted from: <https://www.epa.gov/recycle/reducing-waste-what-you-can-do#Tips%20for%20Students%20and%20Schools>

* Give advice to a friend using the tips above and the modal: should / shouldn't.

E.g. You should reuse last year's materials.

* Do you recycle? Do you buy recycled products? Do you separate your trash?

* In Emma's school, students and teachers are separating trash. They have different bins for different materials. Help them put the objects below into the corresponding bin.

* Find places with recycling bins in your town. What materials can you put in there?

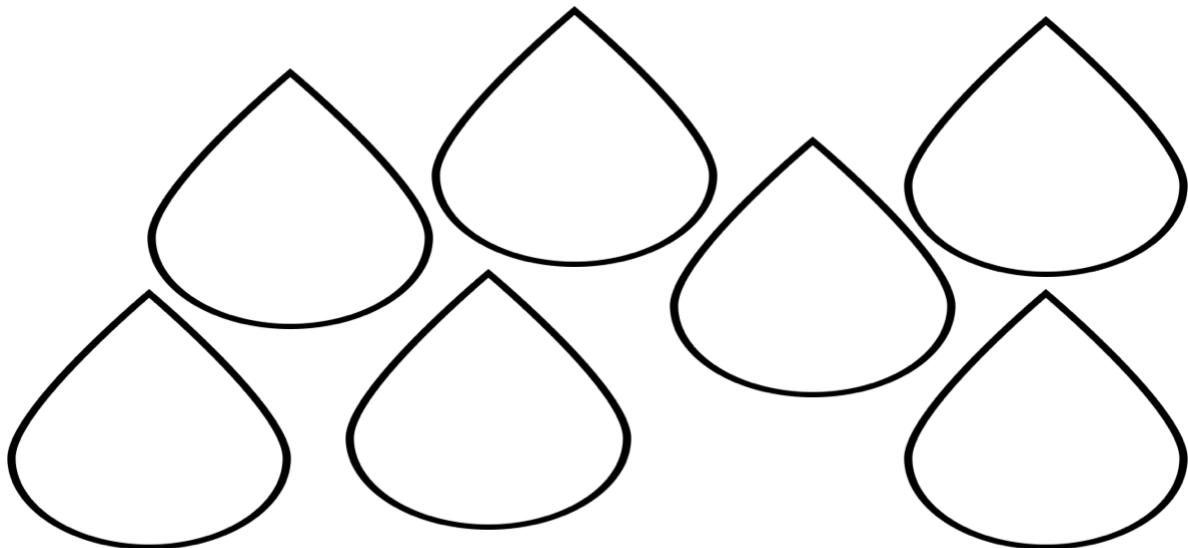

* Make a list of places where you think there should be recycling bins. Why is it important to have those bins there?

The importance of water

- * What do we use water for in our houses? Make a list of different uses. Why is water important? Fill in the drops of water with your ideas.

In Uruguay we are privileged because we have potable running water in our houses. According to OSE (Obras Sanitarias del Estado) 99 % of Uruguayans have access to potable water. Also the right to have access to water is present in our Constitution (art 47) as a fundamental human right. This is essential to avoid illnesses that appear when we don't have potable water.

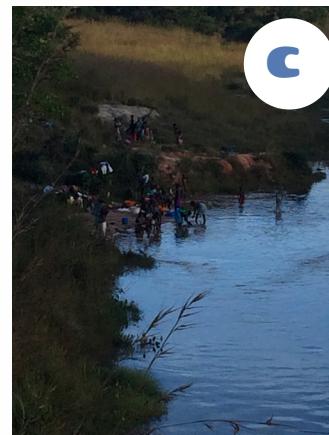

- * Unfortunately, this is not the case in some countries. Look at the pictures. What do you see? What is the relationship between these photos and the use of water? Where are they from?

- * What daily problems related to water do you think the people from the pictures have?

Read the text and choose a picture (A, B or C) that best illustrates the underlined ideas (1, 2, 3).

Lack of water in Africa

One of the most important problems in Africa is the lack of access to clean drinking water and proper sanitation. People in Africa are not the only ones; the equivalent of 1 in 8 people on the planet does not have access to clean, safe water!

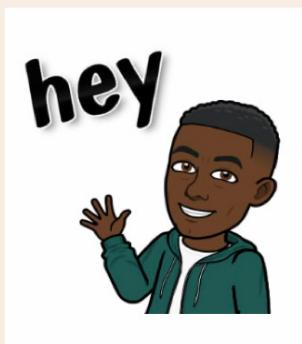

The lack of water is a huge obstacle. You can't grow food, you can't build housing, you can't stay healthy, you can't stay in school and you can't keep working.

(1) For women and children especially, this crisis is real. It affects every minute of the day. (2) Water sources are often far away from people's homes, so they have to spend hours each day finding and transporting water. So they don't have much time for other activities like studying, working, and enjoying life.

Transporting water is not easy. The typical container used for water collection in Africa is very heavy (the equivalent of a 5-year-old child). (3) Apart from that the water taken from a river is not potable which can be a source of illnesses.

- * Lua and Duma are working on a school project about saving water. These are their ideas, help them by highlighting must or mustn't.
- 1 We must/mustn't close the tap when we are brushing our teeth.
 - 2 We must/mustn't re-use our towels and not wash them all the time.
 - 3 We must/mustn't recycle water when possible.
 - 4 We must/mustn't use recreational water toys.
 - 5 We must/mustn't waste water.
 - 6 We must/mustn't run the washing machine if it is not full.
 - 7 We must/mustn't take shorter showers.
 - 8 We must/mustn't turn off the tap when shampooing our hair.
 - 9 We must/mustn't use rainwater for watering the plants of our gardens.

Did you know?

In the US people use should or shouldn't instead of must or mustn't. Must and mustn't are British English.

Being naturist

- * What do you think about the following situations? Choose the correct answer for you.

- 1 I love doing outdoor activities. I agree completely.
- 2 I don't like to destroy nature.
- 3 I like relaxing.
- 4 I enjoy learning about other lifestyles.
- 5 I think that the Earth must be protected.
- 6 I am keen on using natural products.
- 7 I love spending time in the fresh air.
- 8 I have heard about yoga and I would like to try it.
- 9 I like listening to the sounds of nature. I love all kinds of birds but the red and the blue cardinal are my favorites.
- 10 I don't like to use chemicals such as soap or shampoo.
- 11 I love peaceful places where I can enjoy nature.

- * Do you know people who like nature? What activities do they do? What are the rules of naturalists?

Last weekend, I went to a naturist farm called Tierra Pura. It's close to Piriápolis. Here you have a brochure I brought to share with you.

✿ Read the text.

Lua, Nico, Emma, Salvador, Luis and Freddie are looking for a place to go. Read the text and say if Tierra Pura is a good place to go or not.

-Nico really enjoys practicing sports outside. He would like to find a place to play football with his friends. The place needs to have a football pitch together with a canteen to get some sodas and fast food after finishing the match.

-Nico and his cousin love spending time together. They like camping and singing and playing the guitar next to the fire.

-Lua's favorite activity is bird watching. She spends hours doing it. She loves the teru teru.

-Luis loves going shopping. He is interested in nature but he loves comfort and technology. He can't live without the internet.

-Emma feels she is not working enough on her passion: music. She doesn't feel comfortable with her current lifestyle. She needs a day off to get inspiration to relax and to work on her songs.

-Salvador loves animals. He has heard that there's a place in Uruguay where you can meet wild animals. It's kind of dangerous, but he likes activities that give him an adrenaline rush.

-Freddie loves spending time with friends, he really enjoys watching movies, playing video games or cooking new recipes.

Tierra Pura is located on the east of the Atlantic coast of Uruguay. The countryside and the sea landscape come together to make a unique place. Originally, it was a dairy farm. More than two decades ago, it turned into a nature reserve where native fauna and flora are protected. In Tierra Pura you can see nature free of human intervention. We make rational use of the resources that nature provides. In Tierra Pura, high quality organic and natural cosmetics are produced that take advantage of the benefits of local herbs. It is also a good place to rest. You can learn relaxation techniques related to yoga. Visitors are welcome. You can go to Tierra Pura for a short getaway. If you want to relax, you can spend a day off there and enjoy the place. A small community, who chose to live in nature, found in Tierra Pura a nice place to visit. If you want to go there, you can give it a try.

Definitely, Tierra Pura is an interesting place to get to know and enjoy!

✿ Imagine you are one of the characters. Write a social media post saying what your experience there was like.

Write the social media post on their experience at Tierra Pura.

If the school has a blog, the posts can be shared there.

- * Think of 2 inspirational phrases to make others take action on this problem.

With my friends, I went to the Talice Preserve. Read about it.

Meet at Talice and Connect with Nature

We are Lalo and Pancho and we welcome you to our ecopark. Here you can learn about plants and how animals live in their natural habitats. Let's share some adventures in the park! Talice Ecopark offers visitors the unique and exciting opportunity to connect with nature in a beautiful, natural environment and also contact wildlife in this very special place. In this preserve there are 1500 animals of 150 autochthonous and foreign species of mammals, birds and reptiles. Talice is a 'must see' attraction for local families and tourists visiting Flores. It is also a great destination for schools and group visits, picnics, or if you are looking for something different to do with your family and friends. There is also a modern cafeteria, outdoor seating and souvenirs store. You can take photos and go for a trip on beautiful boats. In the preserve there are different activities, some of them are for children and some others are for adults that is why they have different costs.

- * Read the text and answer these questions
- Where is Talice Eco Park located?
 - What activities can you do there?
 - How many animals are there?
 - Why is it an eco park?

- * The Talice Preserve has many different places to visit. You can drive there but you cannot get into the Eco park in a car. Look at the map below to see the various places you can visit.

Place website: <http://www.talice.com.uy/>

In every park there are some regulations, things you have the option to do (can), things that are mandatory (must) or forbidden (mustn't) and things that are recommendable to do (should).

- * Take a look at the rules below. Choose the ones appropriate for an Eco Park.

- 1- You mustn't walk in the areas where the animals live.
- 2- You mustn't feed the animals.
- 3- You shouldn't throw rubbish in the bins.
- 4- You can build a fire to make a barbecue.
- 5- You can't touch the animals.
- 6- You can take photos of the animals and landscape.
- 7- You can buy food or drinks in the canteen.
- 8- You should go for a swim in the lake.

Did you know?

In the US people use should or shouldn't instead of must or mustn't. Must and mustn't are British English.

- Imagine you are going to go on a school trip to Talice Preserve. First you need to become familiar with the park. Look at the map and write a few sentences that describe it.

E.g. In Talice Eco Park, there is a souvenir store next to a lake and there are benches near the bus stop.

- Now that you are more familiar with the park, let's think about the activities you are going to do with your friends on the school trip. Your teacher planned an hour visit so plan your tour carefully.

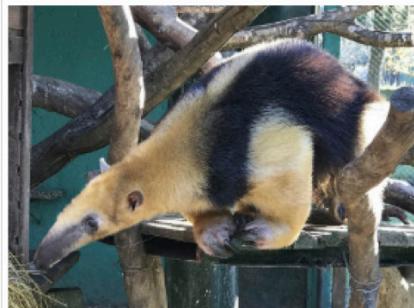

First, we are going to see the "Valle de los Ciervos". There, we are going to take some photos of the deer.

Then we are going to ...

After that, we are going to...

Finally,...

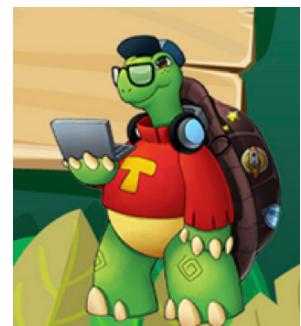

- Think of another reservation in Uruguay and work in groups to create a similar leaflet to the one of the Talice Eco Park. Use the pictures to help you.

- These are the mascots of the Talice Eco Park. Let's learn more about them!

His name is Pancho. He is a turtle. He loves learning. That is why he is usually reading online. He likes teaching and he enjoys passing his knowledge on to others a lot. He loves to help them make a better world. He is nice, honest and also a dreamer. He is sometimes shy. His friend Lalo helps him to take more risky decisions.

Source: talice.com.uy

- Use the information about Lalo, the other Eco Park mascot, and introduce him to a partner. Take turns talking about him. Use sentences, for example: His name is Lalo. He is a puma.

Name: Lalo

Animal: puma

Loves: the projects he has

Character: funny, playful, dreamer, good-hearted

Job: guide

Other characteristics: good partner, a bit impulsive and distracted

Best friend: Pancho

- Now that you know more about Pancho and Lalo, imagine a day in their lives in the Eco Park. What do they do? Write a paragraph.

GLOBAL WARMING

Many people know the danger of global warming, but few understand it.

The greenhouse effect is a term to describe how natural gases, like carbon dioxide and methane, and man-made pollutants help warm the Earth. The gases rise in the atmosphere and form a blanket that retains energy from the sun. The sun's heat reaches the Earth and it is radiated back into space. So, the Earth is warmed.

For years scientists have said that the greenhouse effects are altered by human activities. The increase of temperature will have a disastrous impact on weather patterns and on plants and animal life.

Gases that are causing global warming are carbon dioxide, chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs) and methane. Excessive carbon dioxide comes from power stations, cars and homes. CFCs are chemicals that come from spray cans, foam cushions, egg cartons, etc. These products destroy the ozone shield that protects the earth from ultraviolet radiation. Climatologists predict that the temperatures will rise 3 to 9 degrees. In some regions, a raise in temperature will lead to an increase in rain and more trees and crops. But in other countries a temperature rise will be disastrous.

Global warming will lead to destructive droughts. Some areas may become semi deserts. The oceans would rise.

Scientists say that we need to find solutions. One possibility is to control energy conservation methods and changes in the fuels we use. We should plant more trees and stop burning rain forests. We need to pay attention to the gases of fertilizers, cars, industries that are affecting, too. Everyone should work together to stop excessive global warming. Our existence depends on it.

- * Nico, Emma and Lua read the text.
Help them answer these questions:

- 1 What are some man-made pollutants that probably have a negative impact on the greenhouse effect?
- 2 What is the greenhouse effect?

Organic garden

- * What do you know about organic gardens?
- * What do people use organic gardens for?

Organic Gardens at Madison Ave. Chicago, IL

Community organic gardens – Toronto, Canada

- * More and more people use organic food and actually organic food is more expensive than ordinary food. It is the process that makes the food more expensive. Let's read about it.

ORGANIC GARDENS

Organic gardening is essentially gardening without using synthetic products like fertilizers and pesticides.

Farmers use natural products to grow plants. Why? Because plants are part of the natural system that starts with the soil and includes water supply, the wildlife, insects and people. A good organic gardener does activities in harmony with the natural ecosystem.

Organic garden is a terminology that refers to growing plants, vegetables and fruits in the best natural way.

There are three major areas to maintain the objectives of organic gardening. They are: soil management, weed management and pest control.

- * After reading the text you have more information about organic gardens. Can you help me answer these questions?
 - 1 What is an organic garden?
 - 2 Why do farmers use natural products in the garden?
 - 3 Does organic garden refer to destroying plants?
 - 4 Which are the three major areas to maintain the objectives of organic gardening?

- * In order to start an organic garden you need to follow different steps. Order them.

A STEP BY STEP process to start an Organic Garden

- a Choose the right plants.
- b Make good compost.
- c Plant the crops in beds.
- d Prepare the soil. #1
- e Prepare your garden.
- f Provide nutrients to your plants.
- g Take care of your organic garden.
- h Use of organic fertilizers.
- i Water the crops.
- j Weeding.

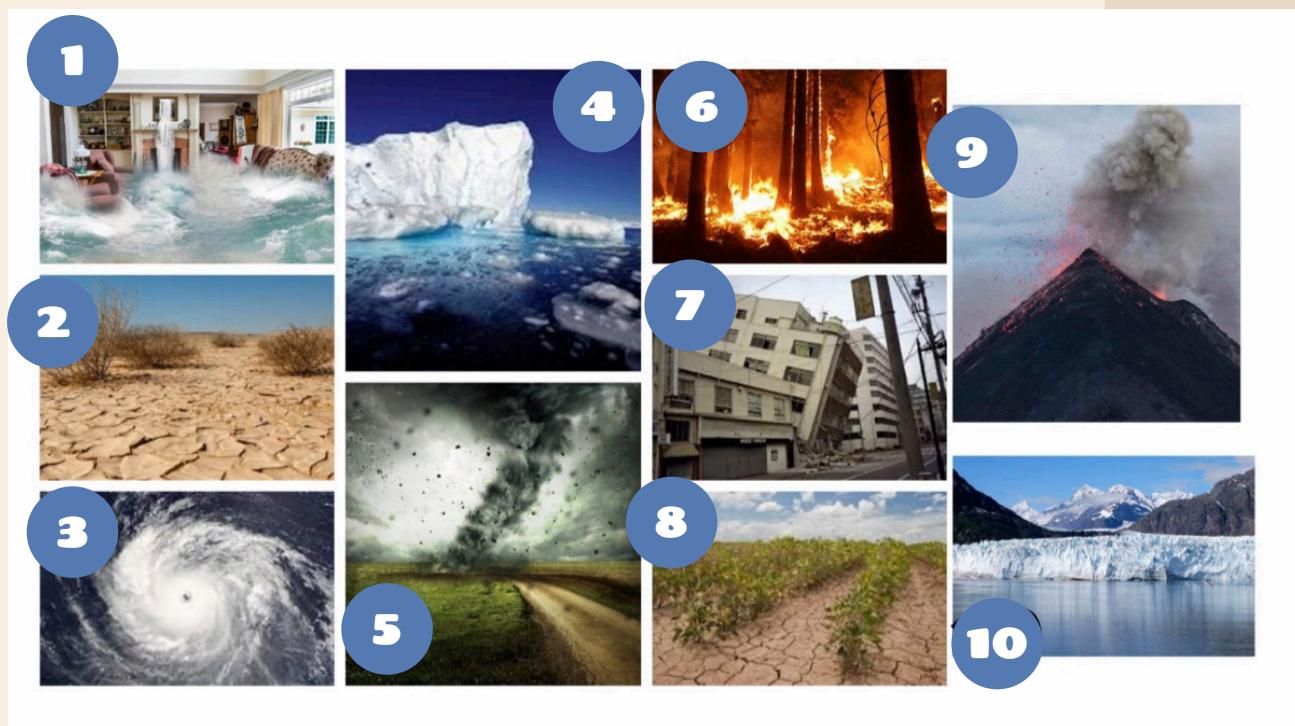

- * Due to the benefits organic gardens have, I believe it's important to share them with your families and give organic gardens a try. Rank them from the most important to the least important in your opinion.

Benefits of organic gardening:

- 1 Reduces the amount of pesticides you and your family get.
- 2 Helps in conserving the environment.
- 3 Reduces greenhouse gas emissions.
- 4 Food and vegetables taste better.
- 5 Saves money.

Natural disasters

- * The following pictures show natural disasters: floods, desertification, hurricanes, a forest fire, iceberg melting, an earthquake, a tornado, a volcanic eruption, droughts and a glacier melting. Label the pictures with the corresponding name.

Photos by Canva.com

- * Read the following sentences and complete with a natural disaster.

- 1 A is when water destroys a city or a town.
- 2 A is a powerful wind. It looks like a column of air in the sky.
- 3 In an , the land opens and moves. It destroys buildings and cities.
- 4 A forest happens when lots of trees are burning.
- 5 An is like a mountain of frozen water in the sea.

- * Do you remember any natural disaster taking place in Uruguay?

- ✿ Nico, Luá and Emma are writing about natural disasters. Which natural disaster are they writing about?

In 2016 there was a terrible tornado in Uruguay. It was an EF3 or probably EF4 tornado with winds of about 180 km per hour to 330 km per hour.

One of the most affected places in the country was the city of Dolores in Soriano province. The tornado began at 4:11 pm and finished at about 4:23 pm. Lots of houses were destroyed. The high school building collapsed, and many trees fell down.

The storm lasted several minutes, and it was terrible.

Read the first part of the text. What is the piece of information that strikes you the most?

Have you ever been in a situation like this? What should you do if you were in a tornado?

Read the text below and find out.

- ✿ What should and shouldn't you do in case of a tornado? Now read the second part of the text and check your answers. It is important that you read this disaster advice.

In a tornado, you should:

- Go indoors if you are outside or on the sidewalk.
- Close all the doors and windows.
- Lie under a table or bed.

You shouldn't:

- Go near the windows.
- Run for a door.
- Open the door.
- Get out of the car.

And remember, probably the safest place to protect yourself is the bathroom.

- * Pay attention to these numbers and say what these refer to:

2016:

EF3: type of tornado

EF4 :

330: kilometers per hour

One day in the future

- * Michael Jackson was a worldwide superstar. He was a singer, a producer and an ecologist. He loved to protect nature and to protect animals. He even wrote a song called “Earth Song” to show to the world what was happening to nature. In this video, he makes predictions about the future of nature.
 - Have you heard of the Earth Song video? Have you ever watched it?
 - What are the possible consequences for nature that he portrays in the video?

- * The future is uncertain, but we can expect some consequences from the actions we are taking now. Have a look at the following predictions.

- Rivers will be contaminated.
 - People won't be able to breathe without oxygen masks.
 - Animals will exist only in nature preserves.
 - People will become conscious about the killing of animals.
 - Governments will spend money to protect water as a natural resource.
 - Nature exploitation will diminish, be regulated and sometimes prohibited.
 - People will have to wear masks to walk on the streets.
 - Trees won't be green anymore.
 - The sky will be dark.
- There won't be living species in the sea.
- There will be only artificial grass.
 - People will lead environmental manifestations to protect the Earth.

- * How can you prevent this from happening? Work in groups.

- * You had different situations that could happen in the future. Let's pretend we are all part of a nature organization. Let's meet and discuss solutions to all the problems.

Electronic waste

* What do you do with an old cellphone when you get a new one?

Look at the following situations and answer what best adapts to your ideas.

Project 1: Making my community more aware of global warming.

The teacher asks the students to choose one of the possible solutions they came up with. They have to advertise that solution during the “Nature Consciousness Fair” or Science Clubs (they usually take place yearly in the different provinces). In groups of 4 or 5, students prepare a stall, an exhibition, a maquette, a poster, or a digital presentation to share during the event. This activity can be coordinated with the science teachers, the art teacher, the Spanish teacher, the math teacher, and any teacher, or community member, you think that can contribute to the richness of the project.

Project 2: Biomes in Uruguay

After having worked with biomes in the world, work with the geography teacher and learn more about biomes in Uruguay. Then, focus on your area and see what biomes you have. Include the plants and animals that are characteristic of that place.

Project 3- The Ninja Turtles

Have you ever heard about the famous cartoon “The Ninja Turtles”? Do you remember their names? / Find out about their names and personal information.

Did you know that “The Ninja Turtles” were named after some famous artists from The Renaissance? Look for information about who they were, which their most well-known pieces of work were, why they became so famous.

The teacher will let you know how you will share your findings to the rest of the class.

Project 4- Uruguayan native turtle in focus - the morrocoy

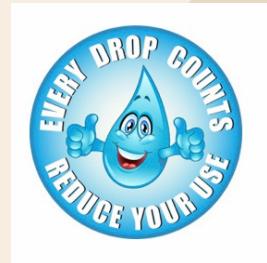

There are some misconceptions about this animal. Some people believe that it is a venomous reptile but this is a myth. Search for information about this native animal to Uruguay and create a poster of it. Present it to the class or make a class exhibition with all the posters created.

Project 5- The importance of water.

Today we learned how important water is. We are all responsible for taking care of this fundamental resource.

Have a look at this logo. Look at its details.

Create a similar one with a different drawing and message to help raise awareness on this subject.

Project 6: Organic products made in Uruguay.

Tierra Pura is a naturist place and they make a lot of organic cosmetics and products. Work with the science teachers, the geography teacher, and any other teacher who wants to participate in order to know more about how to produce naturist products. It is important to read about characteristics and properties of plants and herbs. Aboriginal medicine was based on this philosophy.

Make a blog, a brochure, a poster, a Facebook page or any other means to advertise the place.

Project 7: Natural places all over Uruguay.

Work with the geography and the Art teachers to find out other places in Uruguay that lead a similar lifestyle to Tierra Pura.

Make a blog, a brochure, a poster, a Facebook page or any other means to make the class aware of those places.

Project 8- Producing electricity:

Work in groups, find out which sources of energy are used to make electricity in your country / area. Present your findings to the class.

Project 9- Make your school self-sufficient:

Work in groups, imagine you have to make your school self-sufficient. What changes would you implement? Find out what is needed to build a sustainable school. You may want to ask teachers of other subjects as well. Present your findings to the class.

Project 10 - The panda and my favorite endangered Uruguayan animal

In the radio program, the host talks about the Pandas. They live in China. Why are Pandas so important in the Chinese culture? Chinese people see Pandas as a symbol of courage, friendship, tenderness. Nico is very interested in Chinese culture and the role of the panda in that culture. Look for information and create a poster to share. Also, include an animal that is in danger of extinction in Uruguay, find information and put that information onto the same poster. You can work with the geography teacher and any other teacher who wants to participate.

Project 11: Joining a green club

Students get together in small groups. Each group has to create a “club” in which they will carry out actions to help take care of the Earth. They can recycle, they can clean, and they can act in favor of the planet.

Project 12- Organic Gardens at school:

Students and teachers build organic gardens at the High School / Technical School and include aromatic plants such as:

- | | | | |
|-------------|-------------|------------|---------|
| • saffron | • sunflower | • rosemary | • thyme |
| • echinacea | • lavender | • basil | • mint |

At a second instance they promote alliances with local authorities and neighbors to foster the creation of community organic gardens.

Once they get in contact and are allowed by authorities, they invite the school neighbors at a first instance.

Then, they lead the project to the whole community to build organic gardens at local squares, neighbors' gardens, and local avenues.

Project 12- Organic Gardens at school:

In the “Did you know” section you read about the first recorded tornado in Uruguay. It took place in 1913. Work with your history teacher, your science teacher and any teacher who wants to join in and search for information about what was happening in the world at that time. Include information, pictures and videos about those events. Choose some of those events to share them in a poster, or presentation of any kind.

Taking into account that students are keen on storms and tornadoes movies teacher works with a movie related to the topic: “Tornado” or “Into the storm”

Students work with pre-watching activities such as:

- What do you expect to see in the movie?
- How do you think people may feel?
- What meteorological events may you see in the movie?

Students work with while-watching activities:

- What are the main events in the movie?
- What natural disasters related to the storm happened?
- How did people manage to face the meteorological events?

Project 14- How do you see yourself in the future?

Draw yourself and include three items or situations you predict will happen your future connected with nature.

Project 15: The vehicle of the future

Teacher asks students to think about their future vehicle. T gives a chart with some vocabulary to help the students. Students draw their future vehicle. Students write a paragraph about their ideal vehicle for the future.

PRE WRITING-

IMAGINE YOUR IDEAL FUTURE VEHICLE. THINK ABOUT:

Number of wheels:

Fuel:

Number of seats:

Material:

Speed:

Other:

Draw your future vehicle according to your description.

WRITING-

Write a paragraph about your ideal future vehicle.

Project 16- Designing a time machine

Teacher asks students to design a time machine. Students have to determine how the machine will work and what aspects of the future the machine will show them. Students have to create pictures of what people will see while using the machine and they will describe that.

An alternative could be to write down the instructions to use the machine.

Project 17- A letter to myself in the future.

Students write a letter to their future self and tell what they should know about their past and give him/her a message. Don't forget to include some information about your present, about your ideas about the future, your goals in life and anything else you want to add.

You can also refer to the project a message in the bottle.

CELEBRATIONS AROUND THE WORLD

AT THE END OF THIS UNIT, YOU WILL BE ABLE TO

- understand the various ways to celebrate and commemorate important dates.
- write and speak about important celebrations students like.
- give opinions about celebrations and festivals.
- use graphic organizers and thinking maps to do process writing.
- understand people speaking with different accents and varieties of English.
- work autonomously and research with the guide of the teacher.

A 15th birthday party

- * Look at these two girls. They are in different countries, but they have something in common. What do they have in common? What are they celebrating?

My classmates and I, and probably you, are about to celebrate our 15th birthday. I asked my relatives about the tradition to celebrate the quinceañeras in Uruguay. Here's a list of the things they told me.

- * As you can see, there are different ways of celebrating a 15th birthday. Have a look at what Agustina has to say about her celebration.

- * Look at the picture of Emma and Luá's friend Agustina and predict the answers to these questions:

1. Did she have a birthday party?
2. Did she wear a traditional dress?
3. Did her celebration include a cake?
4. Did she dance the waltz with her relatives and friends?
5. Did the guests give her a present?

- * Are you familiar with these New Year's Eve traditions? Have you ever tried any of these traditions? Which one would you like to try?

Do you know how people celebrate New Year's Eve around the world? I am working with a text about New Year's Eve. Help me do my homework. I have to correct the wrong facts of these sentences.

People celebrate New Year's Eve in a quite homogeneous way.

2.

In the United States of America people wait for the ball dropping in the main cities, for example in Chicago.

3.

In the US, people drink German sparkling wine to toast.

4.

People in England usually jump from a chair as a way of showing they are jumping into the New Year.

New Years' Eve is a special date. People all over the world celebrate with their beloved ones. Everyone is in good spirits and feeling optimistic about the future. There are different traditions in the celebration of this unique day of the year.

In the United States of America, New Year's Eve is marked by a big ball drop in Times Square, New York. People count back until the ball drops. People kiss and hug when the clock strikes midnight.

In Denmark, people gather in crowded places to celebrate the new year. They also listen to the Queen's speech and wait outside the Royal Palace in Copenhagen for the clock chime. In order to bring good luck, Danish people climb on top of chairs and jump into New Year's day at midnight.

If you are a fan of trying new dishes, you should spend New Year's Eve in Estonia. Traditionally, people eat seven, nine or twelve meals a day so they have abundance in the next 365 days. They also leave some food on the plate for ancestral spirits to eat.

In Europe, one of the largest New Year's Eve celebrations takes place in Berlin. They call it Silvester. It involves parties, fireworks and German sparkling wine. At home, families melt lead by holding a flame under a tablespoon. They pour it into a bucket of water and the pattern is said to predict the coming year. A heart/ring shape means an upcoming wedding, a ball means luck will roll your way, and a pig means you'll have plenty of food.

Celebrating in Estonia involves eating all the food on the plate.

6.

One of the largest New Year's Eve celebrations takes place in Silvester city, in Berlin.

- Some people listen to special songs on New Year's Eve. This song is Firework by Katy Perry.

Firework by Katy Perry

Do you ever feel like a plastic bag(1)
 Drifting thought the wind
 Wanting to start again
 Do you ever feel, feel so paper thin (2)
Like a house of cards (3)
 One blow from caving in
 Do you ever feel already buried deep
Six feet under (4) scream
 But no one seems to hear a thing
 Do you know that there's still a chance for you (5)
'Cause there's a spark in you (6)
 You just gotta ignite the light (7)
 And let it shine
 Just own the night
 Like the Fourth of July
'Cause baby you're a firework (8)
 Come on show 'em what your worth
 Make 'em go "Oh, oh, oh!"
 As you shoot across the sky-y-y
 Baby you're a firework
 Come on let your colors burst (9)
 Make 'em go "Oh, oh, oh!"
 You're gonna leave 'em fallin' down down down
You don't have to feel like a waste of space (10)
 You're original, cannot be replaced
 If you only knew...

In the song, Katy Perry mentions a very important celebration for her. What's that celebration? Why do you think that celebration is important to her?

The author predominantly uses pessimistic language. In the other part, the author uses predominantly language of hope. Can you actually see the two parts?

Choose one negative phrase and share a situation in which you felt like that.
 Choose one positive phrase and share a situation in which you felt like that.

Use the highlighted expressions to complete a Venn diagram. Place those expressions that have a negative connotation. Place those that have a positive message and the neutral expressions.

Aren't the pictures gorgeous? I want to know more about the Spring Fest Parade in Dolores. Lua attended the parade last year. Let's see what she has to say about it.

THE NATIONAL SPRING FEST

by Patricia Suarez

The spring festival is a national event celebrated in some Uruguayan towns such as Nueva Palmira, Dolores and Cardona. The original spring festival is set in Dolores, Soriano. The first one was celebrated in 1960. It is a festival for the entire family. It is usually celebrated on the second weekend of October. The event begins on Saturday evening with an opening concert. Several local musicians sing and play instruments to entertain the audience. It is a free event and it is aimed at the whole family. At the end, there is an amazing firework show.

The most important day is Sunday. High school students work very hard all year long to raise money to build thematic floats which they parade on this day. There are two parades, one in the morning and one in the evening. Students dress up in very colorful costumes and they dance choreographically around the floats. People from all over the country come to Dolores to watch the show and have fun with friends and family. This is a competitive event, where each group is awarded points on categories such as creativity, originality, cheerfulness, etc.

Every float has a princess, who represents the students for that specific float. On Sunday afternoon there is a contest where a jury selects the best princess. She is then crowned as the official Spring Festival Queen.

The festival ends late on Sunday night with the announcement of the winners and the coronation of the Queen.

We want to see you next year!!!

- 1- When does the Spring Fest Parade take place?
- 2- Where do people parade?
- 3- Who participates in the parade?
- 4- Where do they get the money to construct the floats and sew the costumes?
- 5- When do they choose the queen and the king of the celebration?
- 6- Does the celebration take place only for one day?

* This is a challenge for you:

How much does it take to create those flower-covered motorized floats?

- * Listen to Lua's friend from Dolores, Uruguay. She is talking about the different stages they go through to build a float. Take notes about the stages and what happens in each one.

Stage	What they do

Now you know about the Spring Parade in Dolores. What festivals do you have in your area? Search for information about any local or regional festival or celebration. It can also be a national celebration with a particular way of celebrating it in your area.

You can use the set of rubrics for oral presentations at the end of this book.

Honoring the dead in other cultures

- People making handicrafts.
- People honoring death.
- People preparing masquerades.

- * Look at the pictures and find: a skull, flowers, photo frames, candles and a mask.
- * Look at the following ideas related to the pictures and match them.

1 People go to restaurants and dress up with traditional clothes and masks.

2 Craftsmen build the skull in the workshop.

3 An artist decorates the skull with flowers. It is a traditional decoration in Mexico.

4 People put the skulls together with photo frames with their beloved ones, candles and sometimes food.

5 After the skull is decorated, an artist paints it with bright colors. Celebrating death is not something sad for Mexicans.

6 A person crafts the skull.

7 After the skull is decorated and painted, it has to dry and it's ready to use.

Answer the following questions:

- 1 Who is Miguel?
- 2 What does his family want him to do?
- 3 Who is Miguel's good friend?
- 4 Who is Coco?
- 5 Why was Miguel's trip to death important?
- 6 What did Miguel discover?

- * Death does not need to be something sad. For many cultures the dead take care of us. How would you celebrate death?

- 1 Get in groups and write down one idea of how you can honor and celebrate the dead.
- 2 Share the ideas in the small groups.
- 3 If time allows, share the group ideas with the whole class.

Remember it is OK to feel sad. It's part of life. There is no need to hide the feelings but it is good to remember the good moments lived with the ones who already passed.

Do you know how indigenous people celebrate their beliefs? What do they do? Let's watch a video about the Inti Raymi sun festival. The video is in this link:

I love the Inti Raymi celebration. Read about it and how it was celebrated in the past.

- * Listen to Lua, Emma, Nico, Duma and Freddie's former geography teacher talking about the topic and correct your answers.

Inti Raymi, the Inca New Year celebration on June 24, honors Inti, the ancient Inca god who is represented by the sun. It was the source of the Inca king's power and authority. The sun is essential to both survival and agriculture.

Indigenous peoples have a close symbiotic (mutually beneficial) relationship with the land and are often good astronomers. They watched the days shorten as the winter solstice approached, and worried that the sun might just disappear completely. The purpose of the Inti Raymi is to bring the sun back.

The Ancient Inti Raymi Celebration

The festival was held in the main plaza of Cuzco, Peru, the old Inca capital city. Community leaders gathered at the Palace of the Inca king to bring the sun back. After a purification fasting, the king would offer a feast with lots of chicha (Inca corn beer). The festival included a parade of mummies and llama sacrifices. The last traditional Inti Raymi was in 1572 after which the Spaniards prohibited it.

Inti Raymi is still celebrated.
Do you know how?
Would you like to discover it?

The Modern Inti Raymi Celebration

Today's Inti Raymi is a cultural celebration that reenacts the ancient ceremonies. It was recovered by indigenous groups in the mid-20th century. It's still held in Cuzco. Similar festivals are held throughout the former Inca Empire, but this is the biggest one. It's a huge festival with thousands of reenactors and hundreds of thousands of visitors. The most prestigious acting roles are the Inca king and queen, the Sapa Inca and Mama Occla.

For about a week, the roads around Cuzco's main plaza become a big street fair. There are ceremonial reenactments with feasting, music and dancing in the evenings. June 24 is the big day filled with ceremonies.

It starts in front of Santo Domingo church which was built over an ancient Sun Temple. After blessings, the Sapa Inca is carried on a golden throne in a procession to the ancient Inca fortress of Sacsayhuamán in the hills above Cuzco.

There the Sapa Inca climbs the sacred altar, gives a speech and performs a theatrical llama sacrifice (it's not real) as an offering to Pachamama (Mother Earth). At sunset, people dance around bonfires. Then the procession returns to Cuzco.

- How much do you know about the history and celebration of Labor Day? Let's read a text with Nico and Lua to learn more about this holiday.

Labor Day

Labor Day is an annual holiday celebrated all over the world. It originated from the eight-hour day movement in the nineteenth century. Labor unions fought for eight hours for work, eight hours for play, and eight hours for sleep. Today, it is a holiday and sometimes people forget the origins of this important day. Most countries celebrate this day on May 1. In some countries it is called May Day and in others it is known as International Workers' Day.

EXACTLY!

The date was chosen due to events in the US. In 1884, the American Federation of Organized Trades and Labor Unions demanded an eight-hour workday, to come into effect as of May 1st 1886. That resulted in the general strike and riot of 1886. The riots at Haymarket Square in Chicago began as peaceful demonstrations for the legal establishment of an eight-hour workday. At a protest rally on May 4th 1890, a bomb was detonated resulting in the death of several police officers and some civilians.

The events in Chicago inspired similar protests across Europe, establishing May 1st as the day to recognize the workers' rights across the world. Curiously, the United States celebrates Labor Day on the first Monday of September (May 1st is Loyalty Day, a legal but not widely recognized holiday in the United States).

People around the world celebrate Labor Day in different ways. There are many festivals and parades organized by different labor organizations and people fill the streets for huge parties around the world. For most people, it is a chance to enjoy the nice weather and have a picnic with family, friends and co-workers. Some people have a barbecue or go to the beach. Government offices, post offices, schools, and many businesses are closed on that day.

National historical dates

Hello guys! In Uruguay there are 5 days off, 5 days that you have a holiday because you don't work. Of those, 3 of them have a historical background. What are they?

Date	What do we celebrate?

- * Look at these important dates for Uruguayan history. What do we commemorate those days?

June 19, 1764

May 18, 1811

April 19, 1825

February 28, 1811

September 23, 1830

Dates in English

Formal

June 19, 1764 (American English).

Informal

19th June (BrE)
June 19 (AmE)
06/19/1764

- * Have a look at the “S.O.S. box” and write each national historical date using the American English format and the British English format. Then, read the dates aloud. For example:

British English

You write: The Battle of Las Piedras was on 18th May, 1811.

You say: “The Battle of Las Piedras was on the eighteenth of May, eighteen eleven.”

American English

You write: The Battle of Las Piedras was on May 18th, 1811.

You say: “The Battle of Las Piedras was on May the eighteenth, eighteen eleven.”

- * Nico's mother is teaching a lesson on national historical dates, these are the texts that she is using. Let's read with her!

The Battle of Las Piedras (May 18) remembers the history of Uruguayan leader José Artigas leading patriot forces to victory against Spain. History states The Battle of Las Piedras was a significant step toward Uruguayan Independence. The famous line “Clemencia para los vencidos”, meaning “Mercy on the vanquished”, was pronounced by Artigas referring to the Spanish and prisoners in 1811. Historians believe this battle was crucial for the survival of the revolution in Uruguay and Argentina.

Adapted from:

- * Read the text and match the two halves of the sentences:

1. This battle was fundamental
2. Artigas was the leader
3. Artigas claimed:
“Clemencia para los vencidos”
4. The Battle of Las Piedras was important

- A. in reference to the Spanish and prisoners.
- B. to gain independence for Uruguay.
- C. to continue the revolution in Argentina, too.
- D. of patriot forces to defeat Spain.

- * Look at this picture. This picture pays tribute to the 33 patriots painted by Blanes. It is made out of tiles. Where is this monument? Who made it? When was it made?

- * The previous picture shows a painting representing the Landing of the 33 Patriots. Read the following text to know more about this historical moment.

Did you know?

Soriano Coat of Arms says “the homeland was born here” and the Landing of the 33 Patriots is the reason why this happens.

On April 19, Uruguay celebrates the anniversary of the Landing of the 33 Patriots, which marks the beginning of the country’s struggle for independence. It was the 33 patriots, also known as the 33 Orientales, the ones who started this struggle.

At the beginning of the 19th century, the territory of modern Uruguay became part of the Empire of Brazil. Then it was known as Oriental Province, or Banda Oriental. Uruguayan patriots continued crusading for independence started by José Gervasio Artigas, who was exiled to Paraguay in 1820.

The 33 Orientales were a group of exiled Uruguayan revolutionaries led by Juan Antonio Lavalleja. On April 19, 1825, they returned to Uruguay from Buenos Aires, secretly crossing the Uruguay River and landing at Agraciada Beach, in the Uruguayan province of Soriano.

There they planted a flag, which would become known as the Flag of the Treinta y Tres, and took an oath to end the Brazilian rule over Uruguay.

- * This is another text about a historical date. It describes the Independence process in Uruguay. Read it.

Independence Day of Uruguay is celebrated on August 25. This national holiday commemorates the declaration of Uruguayan independence from the Brazilian Empire in 1825.

In 1512 the Portuguese arrived in the region of what Uruguay is today. Four years later, the Spanish arrived in the region. Uruguay became a zone of contention between the two colonial empires. In 1777, the territories on the east of the Uruguay River (Banda Oriental) became part of the Spanish Viceroyalty of Rio de la Plata.

However, several years later the Banda Oriental was annexed by the Portuguese to Brazil. In 1822, the Brazilian Empire achieved independence from Portugal. Three years later, a group of Uruguayan revolutionaries led by Juan Antonio Lavalleja (Thirty-Three Orientales) arrived in Montevideo. On August 25, 1825, they declared the independence of Uruguay from Brazil.

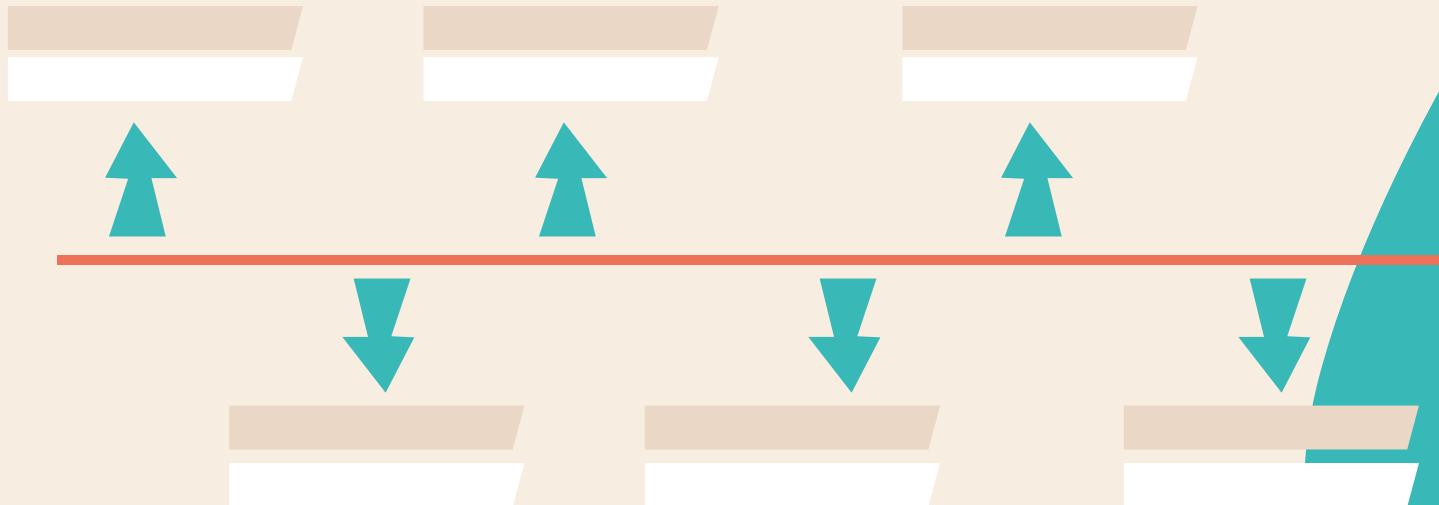

Uruguay Independence Day is a public non-working holiday celebrated nationwide. Celebrations held on the Independence Day consist of public speeches, colorful patriotic parades, flag-raising and wreath-laying ceremonies.

- * Read the text about the Independence Day and answer these questions:

1. When was independence declared?
2. Were Portugal and Spain colonial empires in 1512?
3. Was the Banda Oriental part of Portuguese Brazil?
4. How did Uruguay start the process of gaining independence?

How much do you know about these kinds of festivals?
Let's read about them.

- * Read the text and find different elements (years, type of music, cities, and numbers). Highlight the information.

The Woodstock Music and Art Fair was the most famous of the 1960s rock festivals. It was celebrated on a farm in New York from August 15–18, 1969. There were nearly half a million young people in attendance. Famous rock and roll icons like Jimi Hendrix, Janis Joplin and the band The Who, among others, played their music. Few tickets were sold, but approximately 400,000 people entered for free because there wasn't enough security.

Woodstock is considered a symbol of the 1960s hippie culture. It became a major cultural event. It had news coverage, a popular documentary film, and the music became a symbol of an era. The message in the advertisement for the Woodstock Music and Art Fair was "Three Days of Peace and Music."

Woodstock was an opportunity for people to escape into music and spread a message of unity and peace as at that time the country was deep into the controversial Vietnam War and the civil rights movement.

Performances include but are not limited to alternative rock, heavy metal, punk rock, hip hop, and electronic music. Lollapalooza has also provided a platform for non-profit and political groups and various visual artists. The four-day music festival in Chicago's Grant Park hosts an estimated 400,000 people each year and sells out annually. Lollapalooza is considered one of the largest and most iconic music festivals in the world and one of the longest running in the United States. Massive gatherings

Hello guys! Do you know of any massive gatherings? My parents told me about the Rock Festival in Durazno, El Prado in Montevideo and the National Spring Festival in Soriano.

The massive gatherings I know of are...

Hey Emma, my mom told me about a massive event in the US. It is called the Super Bowl. She sent me this info about it. Let's all read about it.

The Super Bowl

American football is the U.S. national sport. Each year, more than 111 million people watch the final game of the season, the Super Bowl. It is the most watched broadcast of the year on American television. The word "Bowl" is used because football stadiums are shaped like a bowl.

The Super Bowl is the annual championship game of the National Football League (NFL) played in early February. The game is so popular that people celebrate it like a national holiday. Even people who do not like American football watch the game because it is a tradition and also to see the half-time show and the commercials.

Super Bowl commercials are the funniest and most expensive of the year. They're part of the Super Bowl experience; the game stops so that people can watch more commercials on TV. Many people watch the game just to see top music stars play the halftime show. Then, the stadium transforms into a giant concert.

On Super Bowl Sunday, Americans have parties with friends and family. It is the second biggest day of food consumption of the year, after Thanksgiving. Seven million Americans don't go to work the next day because they are sick.

Adapted from: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Super_Bowl

- * Read about the Super Bowl and answer these questions.

- 1 Why is it called the Super Bowl?
- 2 Who organizes the event?
- 3 When is it played?
- 4 Why do people watch it?
- 5 What do they do on Super Bowl Sunday?

- * Look for information about Super Bowl celebrations in different years and complete the chart. Then, write two sentences about them.

Year:	Location:	Performers:
1999	Miami Gardens, Florida	Gloria Estefan, Stevie Wonder, Big Bad Voodoo Daddy, Savion Glover
2000
2017
2020

For example: In 1999 the Super Bowl was celebrated in Miami Gardens, Florida. The singers that performed were Gloria Estefan, Stevie Wonder, Big Bad Voodoo, Daddy and Savion Glover.

- * Which of these Super Bowl finals, would you have enjoyed the most? Why?

I would have enjoyed the one in (year) because (reason).

- 1 When was this picture taken?
- 2 Where was this picture taken?
- 3 Who are the people in the picture?
- 4 What are the names of these people in the picture?
- 5 How was the Uruguayan performance in the Soccer World Cup?

Did you know?

The 1930 FIFA WORLD CUP URUGUAY was the first edition of the Soccer World Championship. It took place between July 13 and 30 of that year.

FIFA decided to hand over the organization of the tournament to Uruguay in commemoration of the centenary of the Oath to the National Constitution which the nation celebrated during July of that year, among other reasons.

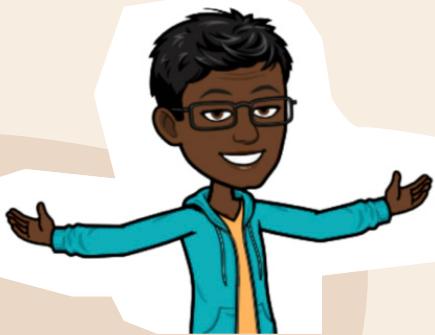

- Emma has to solve these three puzzles about Soccer World Cups. She has to write sentences with the phrases from the ball. She could solve one, help her with the other two.

The information is about the 2010 Soccer World Cup. It was held in South Africa. This country held the event. Spain won the competition and got the trophy. Diego Forlán was chosen as the best player. Shakira created a song called Waka Waka which was the anthem of the competition.

Online events

Do you like to watch concerts, performances and festivals through streaming? What do you need to attend those events?

In the year 2020, with the pandemic and the appearance of COVID-19 there were a lot of virtual events.

- * Ask people from your family and friends about online events prior to the pandemic and post pandemic. Work in pairs and write 5 questions you would ask people to know before and after the pandemic.

Question	Prior to the pandemic	Post pandemic

Source:

https://upload.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/commons/0/07/Coldplay_2017%2C_cropped_01.jpg

There are many musicians around the world who decided to do virtual recitals. The reason is to entertain people and connect with their followers in these times of quarantine due to the pandemic. In 2020, the singer of Coldplay, Chris Martin, joined this trend and delighted thousands of people on an Instagram live.

Through the official account of the band, the musician spent 20 minutes singing the songs the public requested. "I'm practically alone in the house where I live," he told his fans. "Today we were supposed to get together with the band, but they are all in different countries, so we can't play together. I thought it would be nice to connect with you and know where you are and what I can do to cheer you up a bit. Here I'll be at everyone's service for a while."

Worldwide shows

- * Look at the following game. It is called parachute. Let's divide the class into two big groups. You have to discover the hidden word. Each group takes turns and say vowels and consonants in English. If the letter is not present, the team loses a turn. If the letter is present, they continue guessing.

- * Big events need many things: budget, resources, connection and experience, among other things. Money is important but as an event organizer, there are many things that should be taken into consideration. You have to know how to handle logistics, planning, and event advertising. Music festivals are among the most popular events worldwide. Some of the most important are:

Burning Man

in Nevada, where people live an alternative lifestyle for a week. The organizers build a village for a week.

Glastonbury is the biggest music and performing arts festival in the UK. Over 175,000 people attend each year.

Coachella

has grown into a cultural phenomenon in the USA. You can enjoy genres of music and impressive art installations.

Oktoberfest

Celebrating success

Hello guys! This is my first time in the US. With friends and neighbors we are following the tradition to celebrate success. Guess what we are celebrating.

Did you know?

In English the name of the animal is sometimes different to the name of the meat of that animal. For example:

Animal	Meat
pig	pork
deer	venison
cow	beef
sheep	mutton
calf	veal

Most words related to the animals have an Anglo-Saxon origin and most names of cooked meal come from the Normans.

- After reading the text, choose one fact that is interesting to you. Why is it interesting?

For me, one of the most interesting aspects about Thanksgiving is when the president pardons a turkey. Have you ever heard of this?

- Go find a video in which a president pardons the turkey.
- Watch it and write the main stages the president follows to pardon it.

When do you want to celebrate it?

I don't want to say good-bye, I prefer saying see you soon! It was so rewarding to have shared these years with you. Thanks for your support with my ideas. I really felt it! For example, when I told my dad I wanted to work as a baby-sitter. I know you understood what my purpose was. Don't you feel like we have grown together? I do!

It was a wonderful year, full of joy and excitement. Thanks for being part of it and for doing your best and being the best version of yourselves. I'm looking forward to seeing you all next year!

Thanks for being with us one more year. I really loved sharing this year with you all and telling you about my passion for music and entertainment. Next year we will have more stories to tell and enjoy. Stay with us!

I couldn't have enjoyed this year more. It was great to be together and learn about so many things. What I enjoyed the most was learning about Uruguay. I'm sure next year we will learn more about our beautiful country. I wish you all the best for next year.

Projects

You can use the set of rubrics for oral presentations at the end of this book.

Project: Planning my 15th birthday party.

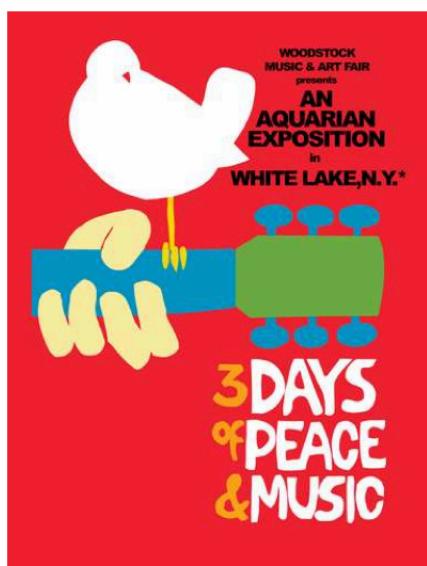

Think about your 15th birthday party. It does not matter if you are a boy or a girl.

Take notes about different items related to the party. Present your plans to the rest of the class.

Project: Create your own music festival.

The Vietnam War inspired the Woodstock festival. In groups, think of a moment in history that could inspire the organization of a music festival. Work with the history, music and art teachers to discuss ideas about your festival. Decide the name of the festival, the place to be held, the bands that will perform, the type of music that will be played, the outfits to wear and how long it would last.

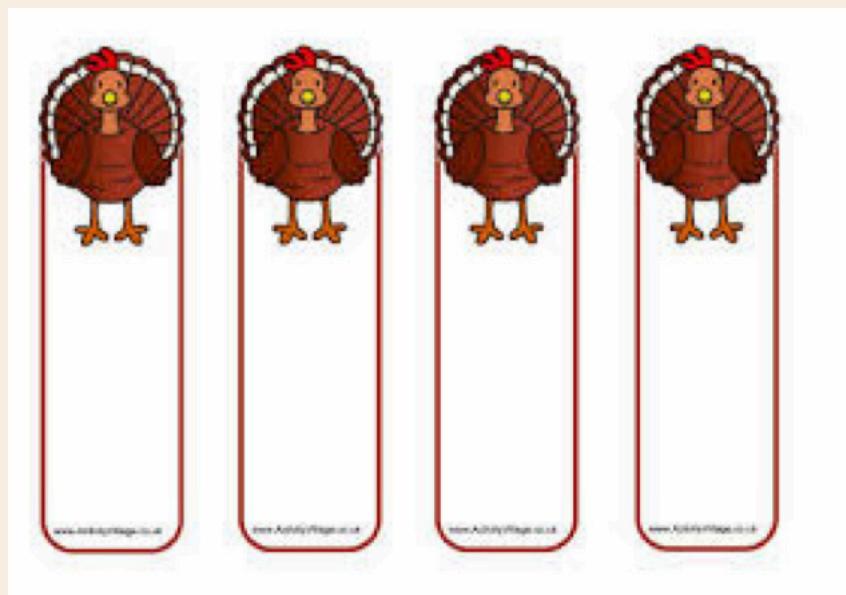

Create a poster with a logo and message to advertise it. Decorate a van with the main topic of the festival (think of the drawings and the phrases you would include). To give you some ideas look at the poster and van from the Woodstock festival.

Finally, present your festival to the rest of the class.

Project: Thanksgiving bookmarker.

On Thanksgiving people thank the crop and abundance. More recently, people are thankful for their jobs, their families and health. What would you be thankful for? Write a strip of paper saying “I’m thankful for...” and make a bookmarker with it.

Project: Giving thanks or celebrating success in Uruguay.

Do you know any celebration or festival that celebrates success here? What do you know about the event? Where does it take place? What do people celebrate? (For example- graduation ceremonies).
